Wins Other Woman's Child

Mrs. Karl Kalika of Commonwealth ave., Brighton, hugs the 1-year-old baby boy, Geoffrey Eliot Kalika, she was allowed to keep by a decree handed down today by Probate Judge Frederick J. Dillon, who ruled against the right of the natural mother, Miss Barbara Munro of Malden, to reclaim the child she signed away five days after he was born.

2 Britain Preparing To Quit Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 26 (AP)—Britain announced today she would end her 25-year rule over Palestine if the United Nations Assembly failed to find a solution that would bring peace to the Holy Land. In any case, the British said they were determined to give up the League of Nations mandate. Britain said she could be induced to stay in Palestine only if the form of rulership should be changed and approved by a majority of the United Nations—with Arab-Jewish agreement.

4 Slain In Tel Aviv Holdup

JERUSALEM, Sept. 26 (AP)—A band of Hebrew-speaking gunmen killed four British constables in the busy streets of Tel Aviv today during a daring armored car holdup which netted the robbers $180,000. They took $800,000 from the closely guarded car outside Barclay's bank but dropped one bag of money containing $420,000 during their getaway in a white jeep. A Jewish policeman was wounded in the gunfighting and a bank official was smashed in the face by members of the robber band. Two of the robber band were believed to have been wounded and five Jews who were passing by were injured, two seriously. The attack on the armored car was preceded by the bursting of a bomb against the Palestinian Economic Corporation building across the street. This apparently was intended to distract attention from the holdup.

Witnesses said four men drove up in a white jeep and tossed a hand grenade into the group of British constables guarding the armored car. In the grenade and exchange of shots which followed three constables were mortally wounded.

Witnesses said accomplices of the robber band apparently were inside the bank. When these men tried to force their way out of the bank, two constables barred the way and in the ensuing gunfire one constable was shot dead and another badly wounded. The robbers seized the two sacks of money, leaped into the jeep and sped away.

New Vishinsky Blast Charges U.S. War Plot

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 26 (AP)—Russia's Vishinsky asserted at a news conference today John Foster Dulles and other prominent Americans he attacked as "warmongers" should be "enchained." Vishinsky broadened his slashing attack to cover U. S. Delegate Warren Austin and Britain's Chief Delegate Hector McNeil.

Vishinsky released at the news conference—his first in the United States—a 10-page statement fully renewing and strengthening his charges of a virtual war plot in the United States against the Soviet Union and naming Dulles, a ranking member of the American delegation all over again as he had in his original "warmonger" speech of Sept. 18 to the United Nations Assembly.

The news conference was held in the Security Council chamber between committee meetings of the Assembly now in session.

Vishinsky declared his charges of warmongering had not been met by either Austin or McNeil except by "abuse, defamation and libel" and that all the "specimens" he personally attacked as "warmongers" had failed to meet his accusations squarely.

The news conference was called on the initiative of the Russian delegation.

Early reaction to the British declaration was guarded and cautious. Some informed quarters said, however, that the Jewish Agency Executive was bitter over Crech-Jones' failure to state a position on the partition plan. Jewish Agency leaders were understood to feel that Britain had taken an implicit stand in favor of maintaining the status quo.

British Palestine declaration came amid these other developments: 1—The United States formally submitted its detailed plan for creation of a year-round interim peace and security committee of the General Assembly. Russia already has opposed this idea. 2—The Assembly's 55-nation political committee was called into session later today to resume debate on the Balkan problem.

3—The Assembly's 55-nation political committee was called into session later today to resume debate on the Balkan problem.

It was disclosed that State Sec. Marshall conferred this forenoon with Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, a leading spokesman for the Jewish Agency Executive for Palestine. Marshall, already had met Arab spokesmen and heard their views.

4 Fined $400 Each After Bookie Raid

Four men arrested by State Police in their Revere gambling raids last month were fined $400 each and given suspended sentences of 30 days today by Judge John W. McLeod in Chelsea District Court.

Found guilty of operating a lottery and registering bets on horses were: Maurice Lynch, 40, Ocean ave., Revere; Frank Menez, 42, Vine st., Somerville; Robert Murray, West Concord st., South End; and Abraham Sarkis, Rockvale ave., Jamaica Plain.

Another defendant, Frank Schiappe, Woodward ave., Roxbury, was found guilty of being present where gaming was in process and paid a $25 fine.

SLOPPY JOE GOES

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Neckties and coats for men students and no slacks for coeds was the rule today at Le Moyne College.

The Rev. Joseph Beglan, dean of the New Jesuit school, said students would be given a few days to comply "but next week we will take more rigorous action if necessary."

Women students were requested to wear ladylike clothes, which, according to the dean, means no slacks, shorts or the like.

MRS. MARGERY DURANT GREEN
Auto Magnate's Daughter Held in Drug Ring Expose

Indict Socialite Author, Wife After Probe of Dope Ring

By CHARLES FINSTON

Special to Boston Evening American

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 26—In one of the most sensational narcotic cases in recent years, the daughter of a motor magnate and her husband, a celebrated author and retired Navy commander, have been indicted by a federal grand jury here on a charge of violating the Narcotics Act.

Despite a shroud of secrecy mysteriously thrown around the case, it was learned today that Mrs. Margery Durant Green, 60, and her husband Com. Fitzhugh Green, 59, author of 32 books and co-author with transatlantic flier Charles A. Lindbergh of "We" in 1927 were indicted.

Green also collaborated on books with Admiral Richard E. Byrd and Martin Johnson, big game hunter. He is an Annapolis graduate and served in both world wars.

Indicted with them was Fred P. Deisler, a New York private detective.

Mrs. Green is the daughter of the late William C. Durant, who organized some of the nation's biggest automobile manufacturing corporations.

Linked to the arrest and indictment of the Greens and Deisler are a prominent South American diplomat stationed in New York City, a high South American police official, two prominent Manhattan doctors and a well known New York lawyer.

Narcotics bureau agents hope to round up all of them and charge them with conspiracy to violate the Narcotics Act.

Indictments against the Greens and Deisler were returned by the grand jury Tuesday, but public announcements here disclosed only that Deisler "and two others" were charged. The U. S. attorney for the district is Adrian W. Maher.

FACE PRISON SENTENCES

They are charged specifically with receiving and concealing narcotics with knowledge of their unlawful importation. All three defendants face prison sentences of five years if convicted.

The Greens, who are reputedly wealthy, live on a palatial estate in New Canaan, Ct. Com. Green graduated from the Naval Academy in 1909 and from the Naval War College in 1924.

Testimony before the grand jury unfolded a story of drug addiction and craving that leads into the Mafia dope ring centered in 107th st. of Manhattan's Harlem district.

Mrs. Green told federal investigators that she started the dope habit when she became ill in 1928 during a trip to France. Com. Green admitted he had been a victim for many years, but endeavored to conceal his addiction from becoming known. They were married in November, 1933.

Their craving for more drugs reached a climax early in 1946, when they were both patients at the New York Hospital in Manhattan. Mrs. Green was having a gall bladder operation and Green was treated for various ailments.

Previously they were content with obtaining drugs from a chain of doctors. At the hospital, however, their supply was cut off but they managed to get deliveries smuggled in from other sources. When authorities at New York

BULLETIN

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 26 (AP)—Fitzhugh Green of New Canaan was arraigned today in federal court on a charge of purchasing narcotic drugs.

Arraigned with Green was Clemens Deisler, also known as Fred P. Deisler of New York city, private detective, charged with the sale of the narcotic to green and his wife, Mrs. Margery Durant Green, 60. Green pleaded innocent, Deisler pleaded guilty and no plea was entered for Mrs. Green.

Hospital learned of the dope traffic in the institution, the Greens were asked to leave. But they made contact with a well-known doctor and received regular doses while residing in the fashionable Hampshire House in New York.

Through this doctor the Greens were introduced to the high South American diplomat.

The diplomat informed the Greens he could supply them with ample narcotics from friends in

'Baby X' Adoption OK, Mother Loses

MRS. KARL KALIKA, BRIGHTON DOCTOR'S WIFE, FEEDS 1-YEAR-OLD GEOFFREY AT HER HOME TODAY
Battle for Child's Custody Ended Today as Court Allows Adoption, Approved by Baby's Mother, to Stand

The 1-year-old baby boy Miss Barbara Munro, Franklin ct., Malden, bore but never saw was awarded today to Dr. and Mrs. Karl Kalika, Commonwealth ave., Brighton, in a decree by Probate Judge Frederick J. Dillon, allowing the adoption of Geoffrey Eliot Kalika.

The decree ruled against the right of the natural mother to reclaim the "Baby X," she signed away five days after he was born in a Brookline hospital.

The overjoyed Kalikas said their immediate plans called for a delayed birthday party for their son, who became 1 year old last Aug. 25.

The ruling came almost a month after a two-week hearing in which the father of the child was referred to only as "Mr. X." The Kalikas have had the child since five days after its birth, Aug. 25, 1946.

The decision brought elation and tears of joy to the Commonwealth ave. home and sorrow and tears of grief to the modest apartment in Franklin ct.

There Barbara Munro, comforted by her mother, Mrs. Agnes Munro, first refused to say anything through her sobs but finally cried out:

"I'm not going to give up my child. I'll carry it to the highest court."

Her anguished decision to fight the decree came after she had been informed her counsel, Atty. Gerald E. Bruen, could not be reached for a statement.

"ARE YOU JOKING?"

Mrs. Kalika first heard the news from a Boston American reporter as she was crossing the threshold into her own apartment from a visit to her neighbor, Mrs. Ruth Model.

"Are you joking?" she asked in a half-whisper. "Please—if you are—don't—I mean, don't joke about such a thing."

The news she and her husband had so eagerly waited for four weeks was too much for her. She broke down.

"Excuse me, please," she sobbed, dropping into a living-room chair.

"I'm so happy," she cried. "I am numb yet. It hasn't penetrated. I'm in a daze."

Mrs. Model moved in from her own apartment across the way to offer congratulations, to embrace and kiss her happy neighbor. For a moment, Geoffrey Eliot Kalika, whose life had been charted by a court of law, lay asleep and forgotten in his crib.

Mrs. Kalika then attempted to put through a call to her husband, chief anesthetist and house physician at Lowell General Hospital, but found the switchboard there tied up.

Before her second attempt, she received a congratulatory call from her attorneys, Walter Powers and Miss Ada F. York, whom she thanked profusely.

"If it wasn't for them," she said, "I don't know what I'd have done. I had faith in them. And then, so many, many people—utter strangers, whose names

Somerville Closes 12 Cold Schools

Because temperature readings in 12 elementary schools in Somerville were "below 60 degrees," Supt. Everett W. Ireland ordered students in those buildings dismissed from morning classes. The buildings are having new boilers installed.

Ireland added that he had ordered the children to return to their classes for the afternoon sessions.

"If the temperature reading has not improved, I will order the children dismissed again this afternoon," Ireland added. Schools affected include the Bennet, Knapp, Pope, Lowe, Carr, Hanscom, Perry, Prescott, Durrell, Burns, Proctor and Bingham buildings.

Meanwhile, Mayor Bradley lashed out at his political opponent, former Mayor John M. Lynch, charging that Lynch's equity suit against the city during the summer halted work on the school buildings and prevented the installation of the new boilers and other work on schedule.

The following schools will be opened and heated on Monday: Bennett, Knapp, Pope, Lowe, Carr, Hanscom, Perry and Prescott.

Arrangements have been made to heat the Burns and Durrell schools with temporary donkey engine boilers which will build up steam and force it through the heat conduits in the two buildings.

4 Two Night Clubs Ruined by Fires, Arson Suspected

Two night club fires—both believed set and under probe by the state fire marshal's office—caused damage in excess of $125,000 in Cambridge and Charlestown early today, injured two Cambridge firemen and drove more than 100 residents to the street.

MRS. CLAUDE GILLIS Aids in Parolee's Arrest

Boy Parolee Out 11 Days Held In Break

Warren F. Waterman, Jr., 17, of East Chelmsford, out on parole from a Washington reform school only 11 days, was held in $15,000 today after pleading guilty in Waltham court to breaking and entering while armed, as well as carrying a loaded revolver.

Pending a hearing Oct. 3, the pleas were entered as not guilty. Waterman did answer not guilty to a third charge, assault with intent to murder a policeman.

He was rounded up after a six-hour search through woods at the Newton-Waltham line by a large posse of police after he allegedly threatened to shoot one patrolman and tried to rob a housewife by threatening her with a gun.

Captured at gunpoint by Newton Police Lt. Patrick King, who took a loaded .32 caliber revolver out of his pocket, Waterman allegedly whimpered: "I was only trying to give it to you. I wasn't going to shoot you."

He is known to Lowell police as a juvenile criminal and was sent to Lyman school for stealing cars. More than 20 officers in 12 radio cars pressed the search which ended with Waterman's capture just before dusk in the driveway of the Fessenden School, Waltham st., West Newton.

His downfall came because a plucky housewife stopped him entering her home through a rear door and with a single slap knocked the gun from his hand. She is Mrs. Claude Gillis of Gilbert st., Waltham, wife of the superintendent of the Sherman paper Products Co., Newton Upper Falls.

The Cambridge blaze razed the Inman Social Club building in Austin st., Cambridge, only a block from Central sq., and gave firemen a stubborn pre-dawn general-alarm battle before it was brought under control, with a property loss of $100,000.

In Charlestown, a few hours later, flames ruined the two-story building in Chelsea st., housing the Stork Club and a tailor shop. Damage exceeded $25,000.

2 FIREMEN INJURED

Boston and Cambridge fire officials reported both fires were of suspicious origin and asked for a State investigation. The Charlestown blaze was discovered by Patrolman Martin Burke when flames, which apparently started near the end of the club bar, had enveloped the building.

The Cambridge fire brought injuries to Robert Breton, 26, a provisional fireman of Rescue Co. No. 1, and Lawrence Bolduc, Jr., 28, of Pemberton st., Cambridge. Both were taken to Cambridge City Hospital. Breton, knocked down a flight of stairs in the flaming Inman club by a hose line, suffered a possible spine fracture. Bolduc's feet were cut by falling timber.

The blaze was discovered at 3:50 a. m. by John McKinnon, who saw the flames from his room in a nearby tenement building.

Before firemen arrived on the scene, Police Sgt. Mark Cunningham and two patrolmen began evacuating 45 members of eight families housed in a four-story double apartment house at the corner of Norfolk and Austin sts., close to the burning structure.

Men and apparatus from Boston responded when the third alarm was sounded. Fully one-half of the Cambridge fire force and equipment were on hand.

Residents, aroused from sleep and forced to flee scantily-clad to the street, from large apartment house close to the fire included Mr. and Mrs. Florence G. Frost; Mrs. Mary F. Melanson, 44; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Sheridan and their son, Clifford, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Jones and their daughter, Patricia, 7; Mrs. Muriel M. Davis; Mrs. Mary Rickard, Edward Kelley; Robert McDonald; Mrs. Bebe J. Cairis and her children, Nicholas, 7 months, and Yvonne, 3; Mrs. Helen Marcus; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Hutchings, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McDonald.

Other nearby tenants evacuated from their Austin st. homes, because of the dense smoke, were Mrs. Mae England, Mrs. W. B. Turnbull, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lathrop, Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Menoque, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. James Perry, Mrs. Elizabeth MacAllister, 70; Mr. and Mrs. Murray Ford and their son, Robert, 18 months; and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barbour.

Ford Bows to Union Veto of Pensions

DETROIT, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. said today it would accept the decision of its CIO workers who have voted down a pension plan in favor of an 11 1/2-cent hourly wage boost and six paid holidays.

Officers of the union's biggest unit, Local 600, at Ford Rouge, indicated they would continue their fight for a pension plan although the local voted it down, 23,946 to 9485.

Eisler Accused of Perjury By House Group Investigator

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (INS)—Hanns Eisler, self-admitted former German Communist, was accused of perjury today by Robert Stripling, chief investigator for the House un-American activities committee. Stripling charged the 49-year-old Hollywood composer

16 Testify in Cafe Fatal Beating

Sixteen witnesses testified before Municipal Judge Charles L. Carr today at an inquest into the death of William Nottage, 46, of Miami, Fla., Coast Guard steward, fatally beaten outside a Hanover st. cafe last Friday.

Robert E. Penney, 22, of Norfolk, Va., a Coast Guard radar man, who was with Penney when he was attacked by two men, was the principal witness. Judge Carr assigned police to bring in Ernest Dello Russo, 26, of Prince st., North End, as a witness, after it was revealed he had been arraigned for assault and battery on Penney.

Another witness, Adam Ferrar, 48, of Tlilton pl., North End, chief at the cafe, was ordered placed in the detention pen by Judge Carr when he reportedly was unwilling to answer questions. He returned later to testify.

The inquest was continued without date.

failed to tell the truth either when he obtained visas to enter the United States in 1939 and 1940 or when he testified before the House group Wednesday.

Stripling's charge came after several witnesses testified Eisler obtained a visitor's entrance in Mexico City and a non-quota (permanent) visa at Mexicali, Mexico, by saying under oath that he was not a Communist and had never been affiliated in any way with the Communist Party.

However, Eisler testified before the committee that he joined the Communist Party in Berlin, Germany, in 1926, but maintained he was not a real member because he dropped out before paying any dues.

Joseph A. Savoretti, a visa official at the Philadelphia immigration office, insisted that when Eisler obtained the visas he swore he was not and had never been a Communist.

Similarly, Paul Hutton testified that when he was in charge of issuing visas at Mexico City, Eisler made a similar denial under oath.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The House committee on un-American activities recommended today that Hanns Eisler be prosecuted for perjury and passport fraud.

Gov. Bradford Weighs State Pay Boost

Pay increases for all state employees are "under serious consideration" by Gov. Bradford, he revealed today at a conference with officials of the State Employees' Ass'n, and the Massachusetts Council of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Both groups are seeking a 20 per cent cost of living increase effective Jan. 1, to be followed by a permanent increase at the start of the next fiscal year, July 1. Gov. Bradford flatly refused demands for a special session of the Legislature to consider the increases, and in agreeing to study the pay rise proposals emphasized that "every citizen of Massachusetts, as well as state employees" must be considered.

Spokesmen for the two groups showed the Governor charts indicating that the cost of living has increased 53.6 per cent since Jan. 1941, while salary increases to state employees have been 25 to 35 per cent less than the jump in living costs.

2 Pan-Am Planes Land Safely After Mishaps

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Two Pan-American World Airways DC-4 planes landed safely today—one in Bermuda with one engine not operating, and the other in San Juan, Puerto Rico, after a half-hour radio silence. The plane which landed in Bermuda was en route from San Juan to New York. The other plane's silence was caused by a radio dead spot, a spokesman said.

Held for Placing Dictograph In Bedroom of Newlyweds

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRI., SEPT. 26, 1947

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 26—Karl P. Hartman, Trafton rd., electronic engineer for a local electrical company, pleaded not guilty in district court today to a charge of eavesdropping by a secretly installed dictograph in the bedroom of his former sweetheart, en-band. Judge William J. Granfield set bail at $1000 and continued the case to Oct. 3.

Police said the young engineer was arrested after a trap had been set for him, as he sat in his parked car listening in to the conversation of the bridal couple in the bedroom of their Oak Grove ave. home.

Discovery of the planted dictaphone was made by the young bride as she came upon wiring leading from behind a bureau and along the floor to the window while she was rearranging the bedroom furniture.

TELLS HUSBAND

She called her husband and informed him of the discovery. On further investigation he found the hidden dictaphone and traced the wiring which was also attached to the bedspring, running 300 feet to a driveway in rear of the eavesdropper's garage.

There the accused engineer, according to police, was wont to sit in his parked car and listen to the bedroom conversations through an attached loudspeaker.

When the bride's husband called in police and informed them of the discovery, a trap was set. Three patrolmen, Edward Coleman, Robert Dunn and Gerald Driscoll, took up hidden positions near the garage and waited for the eavesdropper to do his stuff.

INVITED FRIENDS

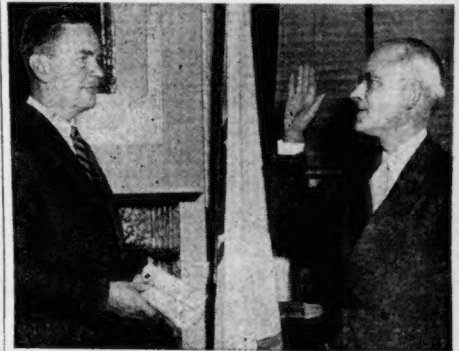

They did not have long to wait before Hartman put in appearance and took his place in the parked car. As he adjusted the wiring of the loudspeaker to the dictaphone wire, the officers closed in and placed him under arrest.

Taken to police headquarters and questioned at length, the engineer talked freely of his role in the weird act, according to officials.

They said he admitted having installed the dictaphone last November, while the newly-weds were on their honeymoon, and had listened to their conversations frequently since that time until police caught up with him. He also admitted inviting friends to listen with him.

AND HE LIVED TO TELL ABOUT IT!

KEENE, N. H., Sept. 26 (AP)—Bruce H. Wells, 27, of Ashburnham, Mass., nursed only a bruised wrist today, despite this police report of what happened when his car skidded on Route 12 last night:

Smashed sideways into a wooden fence. Snapped off an eight-inch square fence post. Missed two large maple trees by inches. Bounded over an intersecting road without touching it. Demolished a stone wall.

Uprooted several small trees and then stopped atop another stone wall—510 feet from where the skid started.

He pleaded guilty in municipal court to a charge of speeding and Judge Arthur Olson imposed a fine of $25 and costs of $4.70.

Wells told police another car forced him off the road.

Teen-Agers Stage 94c Bank Holdup

PEACHLAND, N. C., Sept. 26 (AP)—The Bank of Peachland was held up and robbed of 94 cents today by two teen-age bandits, one of whom was captured after being shot accidentally by his companion when the stickup misfired.

The wounded youth identified himself as Walter Hammonds, 16, and his companion as Tete Belk, 17, both of near Monroe. Hammonds was taken to a hospital suffering a bullet wound in the chest which was pronounced serious but not critical.

Baxter C. McRae, vice president of the bank said the youths strode into the bank, one of them flourishing a pistol, and announced it was a holdup.

The cashier, Mrs. Ola Redfeare, screamer. The armed youth struck her with his gun, causing it to fire, and the bullet pierced his companion's body. The gunman then picked up the 94 cents, dashed out of the bank and drove off in an automobile which was later found abandoned half a mile from this town of 400 population.

Cottle Held for Jury In Slaying of Wife

BARNSTABLE, Sept. 26—Girard G. Cottle, 31, West Yarmouth plumber and father of three children, was bound over to the grand jury today in the bludgeon-slaying of his wife, Priscilla, 29, after hearing one of her brothers describe how Cottle had joined the hunt for the slain woman after her murder.

The district courtroom, presided over by Judge Paul M. Swift, was filled with neighbors and friends of the defendant who had voluntarily started a defense fund for him a day after he was arraigned Sept. 15. The fund, aided by an advertisement signed by another brother of the slain woman, had reached over $3000 and secured the services of Atty. Eben G. Townes, Brockton.

Third party to what seemed to be a triangle tragedy was Kenneth T. Perry, 31, West Yarmouth garage mechanic and father of two children, who is estranged from his wife.

The court today reaffirmed the status it had placed on Perry last week when he was held by Judge Swift in $8000 as a material witness. It was from his car, police said, that Mrs. Cottle stepped to her death at 1:30 a. m. Sept. 14 before the driveway of her own home in Albion st.

BODY FOUND UNDER SHED

Chief State's witness was Alfred S. Roderick, 30, brother of the slain woman, who found her body

KENNETH T. PERRY Held As Material Witness

Under direct questioning by Dist. Atty. Edward Lajoie, who was assisted by State Police Lt. John F. Dempsey, Roderick testified:

"Jerry (Cottle) went to work about 9:30 that morning and called me a short time later to ask if his wife was home. When I said no, he asked if I wanted anything downtown. I then told him to come home because I wanted to see him."

Roderick's children had pointed out spots of blood in the driveway, on the sidewalk, on the steps to the rear door and at the rear of the garage.

When Cottle came home, Roderick stated, his brother-in-law suggested they get a car and look for his wife. They were joined in the search by Perry and a friend of the slain woman, who worked with Mrs. Cottle in a Hyannis five-and-ten-cent store.

"I heard Jerry say he had killed my sister," Roderick said under cross-examination by Townes.

CHIEF ON STAND

West Yarmouth Police Chief Nelson F. Cressy repeated from the witness stand parts of Cottle's alleged confession of the crime and how he had removed his wife's underclothing to lend the belief that she had been the victim of a criminal attack.

Lt. Dempsey, who earlier had stated he was convinced Perry and Mrs. Cottle were planning to go away together, repeated his statement of the contents of Mrs. Cottle's handbag, but added a new note.

In addition to $90 in cash and birth certificates in the name of Perry and Mrs. Cottle, he said he had found a letter to her from the Arizona Chamber of Commerce, giving requested information about the employment and housing situation in that State.

The three Cottle children are being cared for by relatives. The youngest, Kenneth, 2, is in the home of Mrs. Santos, sister of the slain woman; Beverly, 4, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. George Cottle in Shawmut ave., Boston; and Sandra, 8, is with her uncle, Frank Roderick.

SAX HORN IN

BALTIMORE, Sept. 26 (AP)

The piano and rhythm section of a philharmonic jazz ensemble was playing softly at the Lyric last night and the audience waited eagerly for Bill Harris to take his cue and ride on in with a hot trombone chorus.

A sweet sax picked up the melody instead.

The piano and rhythm stopped. The saxophone played on—until four policemen took care of an amateur who had brought his instrument and couldn't restrain himself.

Inquest Planned in Death of Ex-Harvard Prof's Daughter

The death of Lucy Washburn Putnam, 20, Vassar College junior and daughter of Dr. Tracy J. Putnam, former Harvard Medical School neurologist, will be probed further, officials disclosed today.

An inquest will be held Oct. 4, police announced in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The girl was found lying beneath her dormitory window Tuesday morning and died the following day in the college infirmary. According to Medical Examiner Dr. John F. Rogers, death resulted from a severed spinal cord. He reported she either fell or jumped 23 feet from the window of her room.

The girl's mother, Dr. Imarita Putnam, is a distinguished psychiatrist.

Sheriff Frederick Close of Dutchess County, N. Y., declared he had received reports of Miss Putnam's popularity and brilliance as a student, but since her return to Vassar for the fall session she had appeared depressed over family problems and had consulted a college doctor concerning her mental condition.

Sheriff Close said he spoke with Miss Putnam at the college infirmary before her death, and that she told him she remembered standing for a long time before the window of a washroom adjoining her room, but did not remember jumping. She lived in Jocelyn Hall on the Vassar campus.

Miss Putnam prepared for Vassar at Putney School in Vermont and at Riverdale Country School, New York. Her father, before his association with Harvard Medical School, of which he was a graduate, served as surgeon at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital under the late famed brain specialist, Dr. Harvey Cushing. His daughter's death was due to an inoperable spine injury, a surgical field in which he himself had performed many brilliant operations in Boston and other cities.

Electrical Union Lefts Flay Wall St.

The United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America (CIO) today demanded that "Wall Street be driven out of Washington" as the union's 12th annual national convention rejected attempts to include a denunciation of Communist totalitarianism in a resolution on foreign policy.

For the third day in a row the 1000-delegate convention shouted down an attempt by a faction led by James B. Carey, national secretary of the CIO, to have the convention take an outright stand on the Communist issue.

Cries of "red baiting" greeted a drive by the Carey bloc to substitute the anti-Communism resolution for the one offered by the majority of the convention's resolution committee.

The union—third largest in the CIO—finally adopted a report declaring:

"We know that the common people of the world wish to live in peace. We know there is no conflict in the interests of the common people wherever they may live."

Charges that the convention was sidestepping the conflict between ideologies that have been prevalent in United Nations to date came from several speakers of the outnumbered Carey faction. They were met by immediate reports from majority spokesmen that the foreign policy of Soviet Russia was not the question at point at the convention.

During an hour-long debate, Jeffrey Van Cleaf, delegate from N. Y. City Local 430, who identified himself as a Communist, accused the minority faction of "Red baiting" and asserted:

"Democracy should begin at home before we try to spread it abroad."

His assertion came under immediate attack from Frank Blechinger of Albany, "I am tired of these Red baiting accusations," Blechinger said. "We hear Communists who are delegates speak from the convention floor—as they should be entitled to—without shouting 'throw them out,' and every time anyone dares to mention Communism or Russia they cry 'Red baiting' at us. Yet they are allowed to condemn any action in the U. S. as they see fit."

During the fiery discussion, William B. Elconin of Los Angeles said: "We are not here to debate the foreign policy of the Soviet Union; we are here to debate American foreign policy."

3 Seized Stripping Stolen Autos

Three Greater Boston men were captured at gunpoint shortly before dawn today at the edge of a wooded area close to the Broadway Club, Newburyport turnpike, Saugus, where two patrolmen had gone to investigate a burglar alarm.

The trio had been sighted earlier by MDC police as they were allegedly stripping two stolen cars on the MDC reservation off Water st. at the Saugus-Wakefield line. One of the cars was believed stolen from Commonwealth ave., Boston, the other from Lynn's "diamond district" and identified as belonging to Harold Stone, Ocean ter.

All three were turned over to MDC police for questioning in connection with the activities of an auto-theft ring.

MacArthur Halts Red Drive in Japan

Special to the Boston Evening American
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25—Russia is making an effort to infiltrate Japan through propaganda and opposition to Gen. MacArthur, but MacArthur is still the undisputed master of the situation.

This was revealed in San Francisco today by J. B. D. Pennink, political and economic adviser to the Netherlands military mission, Allied advisory council for Japan, who is here en route to a new post in Romania.

Pennink declared the council achieved very little at its sessions, primarily because the Russians constantly criticized MacArthur and gave the late Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson a bad time.

"The Russians are doing something there. Just what, I don't know," said Pennink. "I do know they have shown films making Russia look like Paradise."

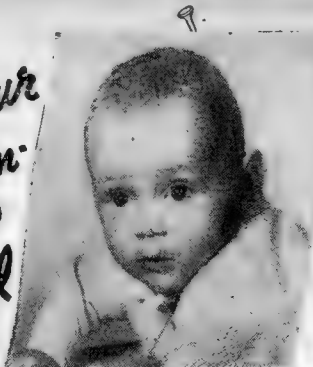

MacArthur has offset any real threat to Communism, however, by seeing to it that the Japanese are well fed, Pennink continued.

"Communism flourishes where there are empty stomachs," said Pennink. "MacArthur imported 600,000 tons of food for September and October and it was for political as well as physical reasons."

Pennink said the Japanese have a profound respect for MacArthur, whom they call "Macata."

FBI Nabs Chef In Express Fraud

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (INS) —The FBI announced a Hammond, Ind., restaurant chef has been arrested on charges of receiving $10,000 worth of stolen property.

The chef was identified as Samuel Platis, 53, of East Chicago, Ind. FBI officials said he is accused of trying to claim a stolen trunk containing securities, jewelry and clothing shipped from Milwaukee, Wis., to Ft. Wayne, Ind., by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Friedburger of Ft. Wayne.

However, before they could pick up the trunk at Ft. Wayne, a "John Miller" ordered it shipped to a fictitious address in Washington. Platis was arrested when he attempted to claim it.

Police Seek Missing Somerville Mother

Search for Mrs. Concelia V. Galbo, 36, of Myrtle st., Somerville, mother of a nine-year-old daughter was begun today by police.

14 Bowles Urges Congress Act On Inflation

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRI., SEPT. 26, 1947

HARTFORD, Ct., Sept. 26 (AP)—Chester Bowles urged today a special session of Congress to act immediately on the Marshall plan and a 12-point anti-inflation program he proposed as essential "to avoid outright disaster."

The former national OPA administrator and economic stabilizer, was a witness before the congressional sub-committee investigating high prices.

Bowles' anti-inflation program:

Erection for sale "at reasonable prices" of 1,300,000 homes in 1948, government-built if private business fails to act.

Excess profits tax to reduce profits "swollen" by inflation. Tax relief for low income groups.

A labor moratorium on new wage demands if all other steps in the program are taken.

Voluntary "food saving" for high and middle income groups, or, if that fails, "direct rationing of key food items."

Extension of rent controls until March 15, 1949.

Consumer organization for a "gigantic protest against our present dizzy price structure."

100 per cent margins to eliminate speculation in grain markets.

A grains allocation program.

"Reasonable" ceiling prices on grain products and "basic industrial products, such as steel."

"Vigorous" pressure for expansion of steel production.

Government allocation of steel until production is increased.

A government survey to urge reduction of "excessive" profit margins in all key industries.

Recall of Churchill Predicted by M. P.

LONDON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Peter Thorneycroft, Conservative member of Parliament, predicted in an address at suburban Winstead last night that before many months have passed Great Britain "is going to demand the services of Winston Churchill."

The demand, Thorneycroft said, will be made "not on the basis of his record or the affection in which he is held, but because of the events which are going to sweep over the country."

Terrier, Losing Sight, To Get Eye Operation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (INS)—Topper, a small wire-haired terrier, was flown to Washington from Detroit for a delicate operation which may save his failing eyesight.

Dr. Mason Weadon, of the Abbey Animal Hospital in Washington, said that the operation would involve the transplanting of the cornea from the eye of another dog.

Seek Lynn Man in Girl's Abduction

A statewide search was being conducted today for a 57-year-old married man of Lynn who police charge abducted Miss Madelyn Hoar, 19, of Gendale ave., Peabody, missing from her home since last Friday. Search for the couple started after police had obtained a warrant in Peabody district court charging the man with abduction.

Friday, after drawing $35 weekly pay and $65 from a Lynn bank. A warrant charging her with being a stubborn child was later obtained by Peabody police.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Hoar, the father being employed as an electrician. According to the girl's mother, Mrs. Luella S. Hoar, her daughter left no note or other clue and took no extra clothing with her.

Navy Mediterranean Force Still Strong, Is Report

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (INS)—The Navy confirmed today that its Task Force in the Mediterranean is approximately four times as strong as before the war. A naval spokesman admitted that such an estimate by Rear Adm. Cato Glover, Jr., was correct, but added that the Mediterranean ships do not carry the extra personnel needed in time of war.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—Most of our beets appear to be scabby. Is this caused by growing potatoes on the land?

A—Beets are often attacked by potato scab. It is not wise to grow beets after potatoes.

Q—How much arsenate of lead is needed to control grubs in the lawn?

A—Arsenate of lead is applied to the surface at the rate of 15 pounds per 1000 sq. ft. It should be washed in. Keep children and animals away until you are sure that all the poison is off the grass.

Q—How deep should tulip bulbs be planted?

A—Tulip bulbs should average about six inches in depth. The top of the bulb should be about four inches below the surface.

Q—Does it pay to wax vegetables before storing?

A—Waxing of vegetables has given good results. It prevents loss of moisture and controls disease. To give good protection, wax must be applied evenly.

Q—When should I plan to set my tulip bulbs?

A—October is considered the best month.

Q—What can be done to control the web worm, which was bad this year?

A—Wipe out the webs early, or spray with arsenate of lead.

Q—How can manure be treated to get rid of the weed seeds?

A—Composting manure for one season tends to destroy many weed seeds.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Sept. 26 (AP)—The Navy was ready today to determine whether a Japanese submarine lies sunk some 300 yds off the Long Beach breaker in eight fathoms of water.

Navy men employing grappling hooks yesterday touched the large submerged wreckage, which was first sighted by Herman M.

Dillinger, Long Beach photographer.

Dillinger sighted the object while out in a fishing boat. He said he saw what appeared to be the rusting remains of a conning tower and submarine bow.

During the war there were numerous reports of enemy submarine activity off the coast. On Dec. 25, 1941, the Navy reported the possible sinking of a foreign submarine about five miles from the scene of the new discovery.

'Seeing' Shells Aid Air Defenses Here

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26 (AP)—If and when America should be attacked by aircraft or any form of aerial missile, a new electronically guided flying explosive that seeks out its target will be one of the country's counter weapons.

That is the report of James C. Coe, radio engineer at the U. S. Naval Air Missile Test Center at Pt. Mugu, Cal., speaking before the Institute of Radio Engineers yesterday.

CABLERAM

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept. 26 (AP)—Muri Emery, veteran Colorado river boatman, could not believe his eyes but "there was this wild mountain ram hanging by his horns from a cable stretched across the river 30 miles below Boulder Dam."

The animal, Emery opined, hooked a horn on the cable, put there during dam construction days to measure rise and fall of water, slipped and struggled to midstream where the cable slackened.

"I pulled him off the cable," the boatman concluded, "and left him near a grass patch. Half-hour later he got his legs back and scampered over a hill."

his home country "by virtue of the diplomatic status he enjoyed."

In May, 1946, the diplomat introduced the Greens to one of the top police officials in his country, who was in the United States to receive special medical treatment.

A short time later they all met at the Greens' mansion in New Canaan. After the police official assured the Greens he could get regular deliveries of dope, Com. Green went to the basement of his home, opened a vault and took out a roll of cash. The amount was $13,000 and was handed over to the foreign police official as a down payment.

Weeks passed by, though, and when no drugs arrived from South America, the Greens went to a prominent New York lawyer, and told their story.

The New York lawyer offered to help them, adding he would hire a private detective to find the South American police official in an effort to retrieve the $13,000.

The detective hired by the lawyer was Desler, of 7 East 44th st., New York. Desler visited the Greens at New Canaan, and Mrs. Green confided to the detective that she was a dope addict. She asked him to arrange contacts for dope deliveries in addition to hunting down the South American.

FACT TO MULET MRS. GREEN

Desler agreed to take on the assignment. But, what Mrs. Green did not know was that Desler and the New York lawyer had entered into a secret pact to mulct Mrs. Green of as much cash as possible for dope.

Desler's cut from the lawyer was set at 20 per cent of all payments. Thus far federal investigators have uncovered payments totaling $34,000 to the New York lawyer and Desler.

After Desler began his operations, the Greens went on a trip to Palm Beach, Fla., in December, 1946. Desler made regular plane trips there from New York with dope contained in jars. Each jar cost the Greens $5000.

On one occasion Desler was unable to make the trip. He got a prominent society matron, who lives in Park ave., New York, to make the plane trip to Florida with a package.

$100,000 WORTH OF DRUGS

Federal agents trailed the Green and Desler dope trail for six months until they swooped down on the parties involved last July. At the Green's home in New Canaan, agents found $100,000 worth of drugs, which Mrs. Green said had cost them $2100 an ounce.

Records accumulated by federal agents showed that the Greens had paid dearly and exorbitantly for their dope craving. Check payments made to the New York lawyer last June—one month—showed that four checks for $6000 each and one check for $8760 had been drawn on a New York bank for dope.

The Washington law firm of Homer S. Cummings, former U. S. attorney general, has been retained to represent the Greens in the case. P. A. Williams, district representative of the Federal Narcotics Bureau in Boston, directed apprehension of the defendants.

Seek Gunman, Girl Aide in So. End Holdup

A smartly-dressed gun moll, about 19, and the armed male accomplice she aided in a holdup at a Broadway, South End, loan office as both escaped with $17 and four watches were objects of a citywide police search today.

According to Miss Bertha Weinberger, proprietress of the establishment, the girl bandit, dressed in a green satin raincoat, high-heeled shoes and a smart hat over her flaxen tresses, preceded the gunman into the pawnshop and clasped a hand over her mouth.

With the other hand, the girl grasped Miss Weinberger by the throat and warned:

"If you make a move, I'll choke you."

At this point the girl's accomplice, about 24, drew a pistol and moved toward the cash box behind the counter. Miss Weinberger's mother, Mrs. Hannah Weinberger, 64, of Johnston rd., Dorchester, shouted:

"What are you going behind there for?"

"This is a stickup now, but it will be a murder if you don't shut up," the gunman threatened.

As the mother pleaded with the gunman not to hurt her daughter, Maugher Gordon of Chandler st., South End, entered the shop and was forced with the Weinbergers into a rear room.

The gun moll then looted the cash box of $12 and took another $5 from the victims' handbags. She also seized four watches valued at $20 each before joining her accomplice in flight.

WESTFORD, Sept. 26 (AP)—One man was killed and another was injured critically early today when their automobile went out of control and turned over on Groton road.

Douglas R. Sullivan, 26, of 99 Arsenal st., Watertown, was dead upon arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lowell.

Paul Sengeliner, 28, of 22 Barnes st., Belmont, was taken to the same hospital suffering from a fractured skull and fractured left leg.

Department Store Sales Up 8 P. C. Last Week

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)

Department store sales throughout the nation increased 8 per cent during the week ended Sept. 20 compared with the same period of last year, the Federal Reserve Board reported.

The New York Federal Reserve district showed an increase of 19 per cent over the same week last year, attributed partly to work stoppages in the trucking industry last year. Other districts—Boston 4, Philadelphia 12, Cleveland 8, Chicago 10, St. Louis 10, Kansas City 8, and San Francisco 4.

Prison Escapees Held in $100,000

Heavily guarded and kept handcuffed even in the prisoner's dock, two State Prison inmates were arraigned in Charlestown court today on a charge of escaping from the institution last Friday morning.

Earl R. Baker, 38, serving a life term for murder, and his brother, George H. Baker, 36, serving 12 years for armed robbery, both waived examination before Judge Thomas F. Fitzpatrick and were ordered held in $50,000 bail each for the October term of the grand jury.

A third escapee, George Hayes, is still at large. The Baker brothers were captured in Charlestown a short time after they gained freedom. Their stay in court was short. Both were in civilian clothes and shackled to prison officers Perley Vance and Charles Scarfall.

NO TIME FOR DELAY

AS SENATOR SALTONSTALL said Wednesday in his address to the Navy Industrial Association in New York, the problem of obtaining the young men needed for the nation's military establishments should supersede all other matters when Congress convenes.

The only solution to the problem is the adoption of a permanent program of universal military training.

In large measure, our unpreparedness was due to a lethargic unwillingness to establish and maintain an adequate system of military training in time of peace.

But—and this is something no one should forget—WE DID NOT ESCAPE WAR BY OUR CONTINUED LISTLESSNESS.

On the contrary, we had war in 1917. We had war again—on a vastly greater scale—in 1941.

Consequently, as history shows, WE DID NOT ESCAPE MILITARY SERVICE BY SHERKING MILITARY TRAINING.

We should have learned this from the first World War, but we did not do so. Instead, we demobilized our Army. We settled the best part of our Navy. In fact, we neglected nearly every provision of the National Service Act.

So the Second World War found us almost as unprepared as we had been for the first World War.

The tragic difference was that it cost us many times as much in slain or wounded soldiers and sailors and in racking war taxes and debilitating war debts.

In all probability, this is our last chance. Events were of such a nature, in the two previous contests, that we were able to construct a Navy and to muster armies and equip and transport them AFTER THE WARS BEGAN.

When—or if—the THIRD WORLD WAR occurs, there will undoubtedly be no time for such desperate improvisation.

STRAIGHT TRUTH

JOSEPH P. KENNEDY, former United States Ambassador to England, told the Buffalo Centennial Eucharistic Congress this week that family life is "the antidote and cure" for the present "turmoil which is at the root of what has been called the cold war in which civilization is engaged."

"That cure," Mr. Kennedy said, "is the defense of the family—and its maintenance, the cornerstone of civilization."

"Only by work and faith can these aspirations be achieved. Therefore, none more stoutly than the worker should repel the propaganda and establishments of Communism which have as their purpose the disappearance of the family into the Godless State."

"Yet, cynical as the forces of evil always are, Communism has chosen the worker as the most effective instrument to effect its objectives."

"Communism aims to destroy not only our American form of government but our form of life, and would deprive us of our faith even as millions in the satellite European states are being deprived of theirs."

GREAT IDEA

WE DON'T KNOW who it was that first came up with the idea of putting all available patrolmen and motor registry inspectors on the highways in the now-famous Labor Day safety drive, but it was the kind of idea that deserves all the praise a newspaper can bestow on it.

The open air probably did the officers no particular harm; and, as the unprecedented reduction in accidents indicates, it did the motorists a very considerable amount of good.

Of course, it is hard to estimate how many lives were saved by the strict enforcement of the laws dealing with speed, drunkenness and criminal carelessness; but it is reasonably safe to assume that at least 20 persons who might have died in assorted mishaps are now going about their jobs in normal fashion and enjoying life with their families.

PLEASE NOTE: Having once been a film critic myself I read the cinema reviews in many publications with much interest. I was recently impressed by a review of the film "Joy," which appeared in the Pathfinder magazine and from which the following is an excerpt:

"Joy is based on a 1928 novel by Mrs. Belloc Lowndes who specializes in pretty, willful, rather morose heroines who reluctantly poison their lovers or husbands to clear the way for new alliances, usually with handsome millionaires. Joan Fontaine as Joy proves the perfect Lowndes heroine. She wriggles about with the fluid grace of a delicate tropical fish, tenderly biting her lower lip and letting her eyelashes flutter in waltz tempo. She makes homicide a girlish misdeed."

ASKING — Queries from clients. Q—You say you have a reader in Cork, Ireland, but have you one in Skibbereen? A—Not yet. But I have one in Ballybunion, Ireland. He recently asked me try to get somebody in Pysht, Wash., to write him a letter. "All my life," he says, I have wanted to get a letter postmarked Pysht. Q—How long have gold-tipped cigarettes been around? A—They originated in the allegedly Gay Nineties.

HORSES & WOMEN: Walter H. Lowy, Chicago manufacturer of feminine figure forming devices, has strongly expressed himself as being against the new "wasp waist" style, which he describes as "the greatest fashion hoax since the gay nineties." Walter refers to the corsets necessary to achieve the "wasp waist" figure as "19th century torture devices." And adds that women wearing them will at times find themselves gasping for breath. Keep Mr. Lowy's remarks in mind in case your matrimonial partner decides to go in for the hour-glass figure. The situation under discussion recalls that when originally invented what is now known as "corset" was called "a feminine form compressor."

JOCKEY INSURANCE: Life insurance for most jockeys is handled by Lloyds of London. The race track management usually pays the insurance. On mile tracks jockeys are insured for full benefits. On half-mile tracks for half benefits. That's a quaint situation. According to that system, jockeys riding at Belmont Park should get one and a half benefit. It's a mile and a half track. Full benefit for a jockey in case of death while riding is $100,000 with $500 for funeral expenses.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, Sept. 26—Governor Earl Warren and Senator Sheridan Downey of California have corroborated the discovery by these essays of a very bad new underworld in the amusement trades in Hollywood, Los Angeles and elsewhere.

These two are primarily concerned, of course, with the California gangsters, most of whom either have social entree among the parvenus or themselves rank as the Astors and Westbrooks Vanderbilts of their time and place.

It is impossible to draw a thin, meandering line to separate the underworld from the society of legitimate, law-abiding persons. If a man or woman with a clean record knowingly associates with Lucky Luciano or Bugsy Siegel, that person assumes certain risks to his reputation.

Frank Sinatra is so intimate with so many such persons that the burden of proof is on him should he challenge the aphorism about birds of a feather.

And a journalist is supposed to know what he is doing when he uses his space and his prerogative to vindicate, explain and ingratiate public characters.

ED SULLIVAN of the New York News got mauling from Frank Marlow, one of the lowest vermin of his time, some years ago. Only last winter, when any reporter should have dug up the facts, he glossed over Sinatra's association with Lucky Luciano, the old exiled gangster.

IN THE HEYDAY of Al Capone, thousands of the "more reputable citizens" made a celebrity of Capone. He was sought after so eagerly that a false story was invented involving Herbert Hoover, which had a basis of plausibility.

This story had it that the reason why President Hoover sent Capone to prison for cheating on his income tax was that Mr. Hoover had walked through a hotel lobby in Miami Beach absolutely unnoticed while Capone was pleasantly mobbed by her worshippers.

However, Mr. Hoover interfered and set the Treasury on Capone only after the late Frank Knox and several other Chicago citizens called on him at the White House and invoked his help on the ground that Chicago had collapsed into civic, political and moral bankruptcy.

They were afraid that anarchy might be next. He never did encounter Capone anywhere.

ALTHOUGH THIS incident was fiction, another of Sinatra's biographers, E. J. Kahn, Jr., of the New Yorker, reports that Sinatra actually did pull off something of the kind in New York. Mr. Kahn tells us that in 1944 Sinatra "was delighted with a boyish prank he played on Governor Dewey." As a large group of Republicans were about to greet their candidate outside the Waldorf, Sinatra "stole his crowd away simply by appearing at the entrance himself."

That could be true, although one is not obliged to believe that it did happen. On the whole, Sinatra's scrapbooks contain an overwhelming bulk of publicity and very little news.

But, if it did happen, here we have a fellow exerting an artificial popularity to disrupt a political demonstration in honor of a candidate who soon was to receive more than 22 million votes for the Presidency.

MR. KAHN TELLS us that Sinatra's fancy has already "toyed with" a plan of "interrupting, if not disturbing, political rallies being held by American pro-Fascists."

"He proposes to attend such right-wing gatherings in person, accompanied by a retinue of 60 picked Bobby-sovereigns of demonstrated lung-power," the article says. "They are to take seats close to the speaker's platform. Then, whenever a speaker utters some thought that Sinatra deems unfit for public consumption, he plans to touch his right cheek, with his right forefinger. At this previously arranged cue, his chorus would burst into so clamorous a shriek that no other sound would come near reaching the audience's ears."

"They'd never hear the guy trying to speak," Sinatra once said.

KAHN HIMSELF seems to regard as "liberal" all citizens who revere Franklin D. Roosevelt and share Kahn's own beliefs. He salutes Sinatra as a champion of "liberal" causes. Any group of Republicans might be "pro-Fascist."

But Kahn has the candor to tell us that Sinatra goes in the company of tough bodyguards. Others have had tough, underworld bodyguards and teams of female goons to disrupt political meetings of the opposition.

We do not know the color of the shirts that Sinatra's group will wear in the campaign of 1948 when his girlish rioters are touched off by his forefinger laid against his cheek.

"Could I interest you in about 1500 tickets to the Policemen's Ball?"

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26 (INS)—Jimmy Stewart, who has been working hard to put on all those pounds he lost in New York when he was on the stage in "Harvey," seems to have gained a few of them back. I talked with him just before he went to Chicago for "Call Northside 777," and he said it was the strain of working every night and two matinees a week that made him lose so much weight.

He got a heavy movie schedule all lined up without very much rest. He'll star in "You Belong to Me" for Robert Riskin, after "Call Northside 777." When I tell you that Jimmy plays a European war correspondent who adopts war orphans and gets in dutch with his fiancée, you'll know the story fits him like the proverbial glove.

Riskin, who also scripted and produced "Jimmy's Magic Town," tells me that "You Belong to Me" won't get going at RKO until next spring. So if anything should happen to change the plans for "Harvey" in Jimmy's favor—well, he could do that, too.

BEN HECHT arrived in town with a completed script of "The Sidewalk," which he wrote while in the hospital. Mary Pickford and her partner, Lester Cowan, didn't dare hope that this comedy, which stars the Marx brothers, would be written with Mary Pickford in it.

"You know," Lester told me, "it's pretty difficult for Hecht, who is essentially a dramatic writer, to write for the Marx Brothers, but he has a swell story. Groucho and Chico carry the lines and Harpo doesn't speak."

"We are going right on with around movie for the Marxes, the story of their life, 'Mother of Two-a-Days,' by Alexander Woolcott. There is a little matter of getting some young boys to play the Marxes as children, and of clearing the rights to some of their plays, which have already been filmed."

BURT LANCASTER will get a chance to visit Africa next spring, for that's where Hal Wallis expects to film "Rope of Sand," a screen play he just bought from Walter Doniger. If Hal continues his present mode of operation, he'll be our most globe-trotting producer.

Burt, whose contract is shared by Hal and Mark Hellinger, will play the role of an American who discovers a rich diamond deposit. Hal told me it's a straight drama for Lancaster—and no murders. Well, well, Burt without a murder!

I HAVE NEVER succeeded in wading through a Ludwig Bemelman book until his movie satire, "Dirty Eddie," was sent to me. Then I read with amazement, I must say, what he has to say about Hollywood.

I had met him at so many parties, apparently having a wonderful time, and loving to be a part of the glamor. I wonder if the fact that he wasn't signed at a fancy price by the studios has anything to do with his bitterness.

He characterized everyone in Hollywood as morons. I ain't mad that I am particularly mentioned as one of them, but making a pig a star at $5000 is going a little far, even in a Hollywood satire.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Viveca Lindfors says she is expecting her mother from Sweden to pay her a visit very shortly. She is arriving to be with Viveca until after she obtains her divorce from Folke Hagard. By the way, Hagard was never married to Signe Hasso, as was reported.

Today, a new member joined the cast of the new Lindfors-Dennis Morgan movie, "To the Victors." He is Jean de Braic, who plays a French philosopher. De Braic has had a most interesting career, and at one time was on the stage with Sarah Bernhardt.

Rudy Vallee, no longer a bleached blonde but back to his natural brown mane, gets the doggondest role in "So This Is New York." He wears a Stetson hat, cowboy boots, and owns a race horse that is constantly winning races.

Now that wouldn't remind you of Stu Hamblen and his forever winning nag, El Lobo, would it? Before Stu gets excited, any resemblance to persons living or dead is purely coincidental. Enterprise's "So This Is New York" is a Ring Lardner story, starring Henry Morgan.

Chandler Sprague, who is back in Hollywood for the first time since the war, brought with him a story laid in the fishing village in North Carolina where he has been living. Chandler left his job with the Distinguished Service Cross and the Silver Star.

He's a very capable writer, and in the old days was on the Los Angeles Examiner before he became a scenario writer. His last screen play was "A Guy Named Joe," with Spencer Tracy, and he tells me he believes his new movie is even better.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Esther Williams has canceled her trip to Europe on advice of her doctor, Dr. Joel Pressman, who has forbidden her to fly. She is taking penicillin and it may be several weeks before she is able to hear. This, of course, is the result of the under water accident which affected her ears.

The Bob Daltons have adopted a year-old baby girl. They have two sons of their own.

John Carroll and Louise Ryan taking up where they left off, in a reconciliation dinner at "The Kings."

The Don Rayes are expecting a baby. Don is a song writer and is presently with Samuel Goldwyn.

This won't interest Joan Crawford, who refuses even to mention Don Barry, but think it's interesting that he says he adopted the war orphans because of Joan's influence.

Another book slapping Hollywood, "Stars Off Guard," by Alex Garder, will be out soon, and 'tis said it will make many people unhappy. Poor Hollywood is always getting it from some writing starlet.

That Harold Russell, the handsome veteran, gets more and more wonderful. As part of his personal appearance act in Chicago, he's playing the piano.

Catherine McLeod Davis picture, "Spint of West Point," to Gen. MacArthur so it can be shown to the Japanese, to give them an idea of the spirit behind our famed military academy.

That's all today.

The honey-mooners, Ed Lasker and Jane Greer, leave for Europe in October.

West Point has sent a print of the Doc Blanchard-Glenn Davis picture, "Spint of West Point," to Gen. MacArthur so it can be shown to the Japanese, to give them an idea of the spirit behind our famed military academy.

That's all today.

In a game of football with the Green Bay Packers, I do not mean the notables went over to see the Redskins get trounced; it just turned out that way.

As things went from bad to worse, the comments of the cash customers began to seem less and less amusing to Mr. George Prestor Marshall, owner of the Redskins. Finally he arose from his box seat and offered to clout a few of the critics.

"I do not think it is constitutional to ban the critics," observed Mr. Dutch Bergman. "I think you first ought to get a ruling from the Attorney-General."

Well, it so happened that Alty-Gen. Tom Clark was seated right next to Mr. Bergman, which may have given him the idea in the first place for all I know. Anyway, Mr. Bergman turned to the Justice Department cabinet and said:

"Tom, would you mind handing down an in quo facto or res adjudicata ruling as to whether Mr. Marshall is within his habeas corpus rights to belt a customer while returning a critical opinion?"

NEW YORK, Sept. 26—Peggy (Voice of the Turtle) French and Pete Jaeger are cooing even though she doesn't look anything like his most recent celebrity-fiancee, Lana Turner.

at Aqueduct last week and paid 15 to 1... George Stirmwens, the Yankees' second baseman, has purchased a $30,000 farm in New Jersey... Newspapermen Robert Runk and Norman Katkov are working on a play together... The ailing head of a big booking agency would go into a coma if he knew his agents were romancing the pretty girl singers and dancers who visit his office in search of jobs.

DANCE TEACHER Don Falini is nursing six stitches in his head—the result of a hold-up attempt in his studio Saturday night... Did any of the papers use the story of the Welfare Islanders who chipped in to send wreaths to the bier of the Little Flower?... A group of leading models are making serious plans to start a co-operative model agency, a move they think may revolutionize the cover girl business... New York producers' offices are flooded with more than 4000 actors and actresses who've returned to the Broadway arena after winding up their chores in summer stock... Some people think the Dorothy Parker-Ross Evans duet is serious, but others say she's still carrying a torch for Alan Campbell, just as in her wonderful poems. The latest ice cream flavor thought up by H. Johnson: cranberry! It'll be out around Thanksgiving time, natch.

NANCY DONOVAN, the luscious thrush who opens at the Roxy tomorrow, is one of the few femmes extant who can bow to the new style with a sincere smile; her entire new fall wardrobe of "longer length" dresses cost hardly a farthing; they're just her last year's beautiful dinner dresses cut down, and she has 24 of them; girls; couldn't you kill her?... Jackie Robinson's postbaseball activities in theaters, etc., will net him $75,000 before "Play Ball" is called next April. Pretty good for a lad who got only $5000 for his work this season... Ray Bolger bought 30 pairs of shoes for his Carnival engagement. He starts wearing them out Thursday night.

A CHAP named Web Bartram, who seems to have a mathematical mind and a rather obvious axe to grind (he's a publicist for Colonial Airways), offers the rather irritating information that you can fly to Montreal, stay two days at the best hotel there, purchase 200 pounds of the choicest beef and fly back to New York for exactly the sum it would cost to buy 200 pounds of beef in Manhattan!

ney-General, with seeming regret. "It's my day off."

SEN. Ralph E. Flanders, of Vermont has risen in righteous wrath against the Senate restaurant, which he says is advertising New England clam chowder that isn't New England clam chowder at all.

Sen. Flanders declares the Senate confection does not even remotely resemble the genuine. He admits it may be moderately edible provided one is on the verge of starvation but that it is a gross libel on a fine old New England institution.

"The issue," he asserted, "is less important than some, but more important than others of the matters before Congress. There are certain things that have to be done to make real New England, north-of-Boston clam chowder: You gotta start with diced onion and salt pork, fried in the bottom of a kettle until it is crisp and brown. The liquid has to be milk and the clams have to be soft skinned, not the hard skinned kind you get around Washington.

"That's the fundamental," he added firmly, "and nothing else will answer."

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—Sen. Allen J. Ellender, of Louisiana, reveals he was forced to take a very firm attitude with Sen. Homer E. Capehart, of Indiana, in the manner of calling wild Alaskan ducks.

The man from way down South was up in Alaska recently with the Homeric Hooiser, inspecting the sites of proposed paper mills. Also in the party was Sen. Harry P. Cain, of Washington, likewise a member of the Senate small business subcommittee on newsprint.

They were aboard a Coast Guard cutter, presumably seeing how long it would take them to turn into pulp, when a terrific storm broke. It developed that the storms had brought along practically everything for Alaskan wear except anything useful. There wasn't a raincoat in the mob.

They got soaked to their legislative skins. On landing at Ketchikan they raced to the nearest dry-goods store and started buying like mad.

Sen. Ellender bought a sou'-wester, high boots and waterrepelling hat. Sen. Capehart also bought a load of stuff, good only for a polar expedition in the dead of winter, and Sen. Cain did the same.

Thus equipped they returned to the cutter. But of course you know what happened. It turned hot as blazes.

BUT I STARTED to tell you about duck calling. Somewhere south of Point Barrow they sighted a flock of wild ducks.

Sen. Ellender started giving them the good old Louisiana duck-hunting call.

"I'll show you how to do it," interrupted the Senator from Indiana. The northern wail suddenly re-echoed to a sound they probably hadn't heard since the shooting of Dan McGrew.

"Stop it! For heaven's sake, stop it!" pleaded Sen. Ellender. "Do you want the entire wild duck population to drop dead?" You don't yell: "800-oo-oo-ee! 800-oo-oo-ee!" at wild ducks. That's the hog calling yell for Indiana pigs.

A VERY distinguished gathering motored from Washington to Baltimore the other day to see our Redskins get trounced

I didn't even know—kept calling me up to wish us luck and give us courage."

Suddenly Geoffrey Elliot Kalika was remembered. She led the way to the room in which he lay.

"There were times," she said, "when we looked at him and laughed to even think he could be taken away from us—our child, our baby."

The call to the Lowell hospital went through. The switchboard operator said the doctor was in surgery, but she'd take a message.

"Tell him to call his home," cried Mrs. Kalika. "There's good news for him."

The operator spoke.

"Oh, I know," she said, "and I'm so glad. We've been waiting here for the world."

While her husband held a human life in his hands, unaware he was at last the legal father of a son, Mrs. Kalika called her mother-in-law, Mrs. Bessie Kalika, Sutton st., Dorchester.

The latter, also overcome by her son's good fortune, broke down over the phone and had to be quieted by her daughter-in-law, herself not yet a complete command of her emotions.

THANKS COUNSEL

The daughter-in-law then invited the elderly Mrs. Kalika to join her in "taking a walk with my baby."

How the news leaked out could not be learned, but within a moment the Kalika phone was besieged with callers extending congratulations.

One of them was Dr. Kalika.

"It's ours," Mrs. Kalika cried to him.

Geoffrey began to cry and the sound carried to his father in Lowell, who asked what the trouble was.

"That's your son, dear," said Mrs. Kalika.

The doctor, not so steeped in science that his emotions were beyond upset, said he couldn't speak any longer but would rush home to celebrate the occasion.

Her hand still unsteady, Mrs. Kalika hung up the phone, turned to the reporter and said:

"Our son will get everything in our power to make him fine, strong and useful."

The court's decree, adjudging that the mother had consented to the adoption without duress, read as follows:

"On the petition of Karl and Dinak Kalika, Boston, his wife, praying for leave to adopt a male child, Munro, under the age of 14, child of Barbara Munro, and for a change of said child's name;

"It appears that Barbara Munro, the mother, has consented thereto; and the court being satisfied of the identity and relationship of the persons, and that the petitioners are of sufficient ability to bring up said child and furnish him with suitable nurture and education, having reference to the degree and condition of his parents; that it is fit and proper that such adoption should take place;

"It is decreed that, from this day, said child shall, to all legal intents and purposes, be the child of said petitioners and that his name be changed to Geoffrey Elliot Kalika, which he shall hereafter bear, and which shall be his legal name."

The adoption by Mrs. Lena Hibbel, Chestnut st., Beacon Hill, sister-in-law of Mrs. Kalikas, who arranged for prenatal care for the mother in the Hull home of Mrs. Marie Gillis.

DURESS CHARGED

Atty. Gerald E. Bruen, counsel for the mother, attempting to prove coercion in the adoption, charged that Mrs. Hibbel forced the mother a month before it was born to promise not to see the child on the threat she and "Mr. X" would otherwise wash their hands of the whole affair.

In her plea for the return of her baby, the mother testified she did not know what she was doing when she signed the adoption papers in the hospital Aug. 30, 1946, because she was in a state of confusion and fear.

Her counsel argued she did not in law or in fact consent to the adoption because there was duress in obtaining her signature.

He abjured the contention of Atty. Walter Powers and Miss Ada F. York, counsel for the Kalikas, that the mother's motive in seeking to reclaim her child was based on revenge sought against the unnamed father.

"There is no object of revenge in this case," he said, "That is borne out by the fact that we agreed at the outset that the father be referred to only as 'Mr. X.'"

Bruen stressed the youth and attractiveness of the mother and maintained there was no reason why she should not eventually marry, thus giving the child a respected name.

That her maternal instincts were sound, he said, was demonstrated by the fact that she refused to submit to illegal surgery to rid herself of the child.

"This girl," said Bruen, "was the victim of an accident of life."

The mother testified she was afraid of Mrs. Hibbel and signed the adoption papers under the impression they only granted temporary custody. She was not then informed who was to get the baby.

Counsel for the Kalikas emphasized the mother had given her consent to adoption three times—once orally, a second time in a paper signed June 26 and finally on Aug. 30.

GAY WEEK-END is in store for North Shore debutantes with two large dances, one this evening for Gioia Griess and another tomorrow evening for Lindsay Febiger and Mia Atherton.

Mr. and Mrs. Justin W. Griess of Salmagundi, Hamilton, are host and hostess at the dance this evening at Myopia Hunt Club for Mr. Griess's daughter Gioia. She is a provisional member of the Junior League and will be presented in New York at the Junior Assembly.

She is the daughter of the late Serena Sears Griess.

Before the dance Mr. and Mrs. Griess are entertaining 80 guests at a dinner party at Salmagundi. Guests will include Comdr. and Mrs. Keith Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Crocker Snow, Mr. and Mrs. William Gabel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Inches, Mr. and Mrs. George Seybolt, Mr. Rodman Colton, Miss Mary Curtis, Mrs. George Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. George Vaughan, Jr., Ernest Griess, Mrs. Addison Gardner and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Higgins.

Also Mr. and Mrs. J. Hampden Robb, Rev. and Mrs. William F. A. Stride, Mr. and Mrs. George Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Howes, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bailey, George von L. Meyer, Frederick B. Myers is head usher assisted by Robert Moore Jr., Richard Rogers, Ernest Stockwell, David Cole, Richmond Prescott, Richard Sears, George Harding, Fulton Sears, Bayard Robb, Grant Howes, Roger Prouty, William Amory, Frederick S. Wicks 2d, J. H. Robb Jr., William Hall, Peter Courtney, William Currier, Sherwood Stockwell, Thomas Smith, Alex Gardner, David Gibson, Grant Schley, Guy Haskell, James Gilman and Addison Gardner Jr.

They will attend the dinner together with a large group of debutantes and intimate friends of Gioia including Joan Gibb of New York and Louise Huger of Charleston, S. C., who are among her house guests.

SOCIETY burned the midnight oil and then some the night of Florence McKean's debut dance at Willow Tree Farm, Beverly Farms this week. Even the older generation among the 400 guests enjoyed the party till the wee small hours and went home with tintype pictures and prizes as souvenirs of a very gay and unusual coming out party.

Motif of the affair was a country fair with a midway set up in a large tent on the lawn. Between dances there were all sorts of games of chance such as pitching pennies, shooting china disks, ring toss, bowling and darts. The tent was gay with masses of flowers and red balloons for decorations and a midnight supper was served at small tables with red covers. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pratt McKean, the debutante's parents, gave the dance and her grandmother, Mrs. M. Graeme Haughton of Prides Crossing was hostess at the ushers' dinner.

A DAUGHTER, Anne Wheeler Harwood, was born Sept. 18 at Richardson House to Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett Harwood, Jr. (Nancy Snow) of Chestnut Hill. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William B. Snow, Jr. of Brookline and Mr. Bartlett Harwood of Boston.

ABSORBED

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 26 (AP)—The mackerel were running well for commercial fishermen Woodrow Wakatsuki and Katsumi Nishikawa.

So well, in fact, that they kept right on fishing after their 36-foot boat was filled to the gunwales. They fished all night, and early today they overlaid craft sank silently beneath the waves, depositing five tons of mackerel and two surprised fishermen in the ocean.

Another fishing craft rescued them, took their boat, its deck awash, in tow and hauled it to Santa Monica harbor where it will be refloated.

In policies and performance, the governments in England and France have surrendered to organized voters in trade unions, meanwhile building a larger bureaucracy all the while.

Why, eight million French people—20 per cent of the entire population in France and 10 per cent in England—now are holding government jobs.

And that is one clear answer to the question: Why don't England and France get production? Why do they need so many things from the working people of America? Socialism, my friends, means mismanagement.

Mismanagement is at the bottom of the production snafu in England and France. Not basic poverty.

Further, in England and France the participation of the trade unions as extra-parliamentary, extra-political organizations, in the hands of a few trade union leaders, presents new constitutional problems.

STATE WITHIN STATE

The governments make the decisions, but unless the trade union leaders approve, the government's decisions are generally impossible to execute.

Thus the unions form a state within a state. It is this inner state—this inside state controlled by the trade union leaders—which really controls England and France today.

Now this dictatorship consists of about 10 or 12 men in each country who hold no public office at all, but it is they who say whether coal will be dug, whether light will burn, whether ships will sail from the dock, whether factories will run and just which laws are to be passed and which are not.

The government does not work with them; it works for them. The inside state rules the roost. The minority rules the majority.

Ordinary people are left holding the bag.

The helpless unorganized majority has lost the power that is supposed to remain in the hands of simple ordinary people trying to get along and make their way in life.

That's England and France today.

And we must be very careful that it does not become America tomorrow.

Now the proposition behind this is called state socialism. It is a kind of gray Communism.

It develops more and more towards the compulsion of hard-fisted Communism in some of its manifestations, as its greater measures fail.

Its feature is destruction of the profit motive by taxation that amounts to confiscation, and by organized minority rule that amounts to tyranny.

Free Europeans, who fought and died to remain free, as we have done in YOUR LAND AND MINE, hoped such reactionary ideas and close-held power by an inner state like the palace favorite's powers in the days of ancient kings, were gone forever.

Countries doing well, advancing, producing in western Europe today... Belgium, Italy, Switzerland for example, look on amazed at the spectacle of increased poverty and restriction in England and France.

Belgians, Italians, Swiss will tell you they simply cannot understand how the socialist governments are going to keep people from wanting to move out.

And the fact is that the majority of young people today do want to leave England . . . get out from under the dead pall of nationalization, socialism and the orders of the inner state.

When I was in London, a young Britisher, an ex-R. A. F. flier, ran an ad in a newspaper asking 12 people to go on a five-year trip in a small sail-boat to some primitive place.

The idea he offered was a chance to build a new life from scratch. You won't have what is still left here in England, he said, but you will have what isn't left at present, opportunity.

The next day 2000 people wrote him and asked to go along, but the Socialist government refused to let anyone leave.

It is the gigantic managerial Snafu rather than basic poverty, the Snafu represented by the great Socialistic experiment in Great Britain, largely underwritten by the United States as a matter of circumstances, that is at the bottom of England's failure to produce above the subsistence level in behalf of the British people.

WHERE SOCIALISM FAILS

This extends into the German Ruhr, where the London Socialist government controls and administers the coal production so vital to recovery on continental Europe.

It extends into the need for more and more gifts of free production from America's free enterprise system to make up for the production that Europe's Socialism does not provide.

Our American concept of a free society with respect for the rights of you and me as individuals, with the state the servant of all the people instead of the people being the servants of the super-state or the inner-state, is really the liberal, revolutionary concept of how society should operate.

The concept is still a new thing in the world.

As we try to stabilize European economies we must be sure that we ourselves do not surrender to similar ideas and practices and end up by having a new world on this side of the Atlantic no better than the old world.

Burmese Elect State Chief As Provisional President

RANGOON, Burma, Sept. 26

(AP) The constituent assembly elected Sao Shwe Thaik, chief-tain of the Shan State of Yawng-shwe, provisional president of the Union of Burma. Thakin Nu was elected premier of the provisional union government.

Both elections were uncontested. The British have granted the Burmese self government.

CHEESE PUFF CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons margarine
1 tablespoon ground sage
8 slices bread
1/4 lb. American cheese
2 eggs, well beaten
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Blend together the margarine and sage. Trim crusts from bread and spread 4 slices with margarine mixture. Top with sliced cheese and the remaining 4 slices of bread. Cut each sandwich into 4 triangles. Arrange in 2 layers in a shallow casserole. Combine milk and eggs. Pour over cheese sandwiches in casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 45 minutes. Serves 4 to 6. (Cost approx. 52c.)

SPEEDY BAKED BEAN CASSEROLE

Turn 1 can (28 oz. size) baked beans into a greased casserole. Cut 4 slices of bacon into small pieces and partially fry to remove a portion of the fat. Blend 1/4 cup chili sauce and the bacon pieces through the beans, reserving a few pieces for the top of the casserole. If you like sweetened baked beans, blend 2 tablespoons of molasses with the chili sauce. Bake, uncovered, in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) for 45 minutes, or until beans are brown and bubbly. Serves 6. Complete the meal with cole slaw, rolls and a fruit dessert. (Cost approx. 52c.)

Teen-Agers Tell Discipline Ideas

Lack of discipline in our high schools is of special concern to our thinking teen-agers, as it is to their parents. Many young people have their own ideas on how conditions could be bettered.

Some of their ideas will be published in Ursula Trow's regular column, "Teen-Age Tempest," which will feature "Improving Schoolroom Discipline" in Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with all editions of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Another American Weekly feature for Sunday will be "Seabiscuit the Unbeatable," Horace Wade's story of the golden bay who left behind one of the most remarkable records in turf history.

ONE OF THE loveliest evening creations in the Nettie Rosenstein collection... acclaimed a few months ago by the nation's fashion press and equally cheered by Boston women last night... is this strapless original of deep rust taffeta with black lace sleekly applied over the major portion. The black lace mantilla adds increased charm to this full-skirted beauty... strikingly appealing for its feminine qualities and intriguing simplicity.—R. M.

Rosenstein Lavish Fashion Display Wins Cheers Here

BOSTON APPROVES the soignée look. That was clearly indicated last night.

So if you are rounding up disgruntled objectors to and rejectors of longer skirts and hip-happy silhouettes, don't waste your time on Boston women AND men. At least, not on the several hundred tres chic femmes and their escorts who cheered and applauded the Filene-sponsored showing of Nettie Rosenstein's lavish gestures with yards of marvelous fabric, dropped to a new hemline low and wrapped to a more curvaceous form divine pronouncement. The fashion presentation was held at the Copley Plaza at both luncheon and dinner offerings.

After many of Rosenstein's arresting models in daytime outfits of stark black, stark blue, indelible brown or gray, blue jay, clover green and medieval red graced the runway, Commentator Harriet Wilensky, Filene fashion promotion director, halted the colorful proceedings long enough to solicit audience indication to the longer skirts.

Prolonged applause and loud cheers greeted her query, "We'll send the word to Texas."

Like two sides of a coin, the Rosenstein collection, shown in Boston by Filene's for the sixth time, presents two equally chic, equally soignée ways to look. One is the slim and wrapped, with the movement of the fabric sidewise, typically Rosenstein, typically body beautiful, with curves revealed, enhanced by intricate bias cuts and magically drawn folds.

The other way to look, and just as effective... and how effective can a gal look... is the full shape, with profile interest drapery, fold necklines and skirt treatments all moving definitely forward or backward. In this category, La Rosenstein invokes the beautiful new figurehead drapery, great folds of taffeta or satin at the back of a dress to make a woman's profile look like the goddess on the prow of a sailing ship.

MOULDED TO FIGURE

Suits and daytime dresses seem as though they were moulded to the figure, although that figure to do justice to the design must be perfect as the designer's conception of fashion perfection. There mustn't be a wrinkle in an outline.

It is this perfection which has given credence to Rosenstein's incomparable interpretation of contemporary fashion, Harold D. Hodgkinson, general manager of Filene's, pointed out. He asked every man in the audience to agree with him that the 1948 fashion girl was the girl of a lifetime.

It is obvious that Rosenstein strongly supports black, since her clothes show a very firm restraining hand on the color palette. Maybe because she likes the slim look and black makes this acceptable illusion an interesting one.—R. M.

New Blush Face Powder

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

HOW OFTEN have you heard girls say at various times... I can't use this face powder, it is too heavy... or too rough... or it cakes... is flour-like... and a host of other critical phrases. Yet for you... that face powder was just right... and did a sleek job in covering the complexion for a dusting that was provocative and appealing.

Exquisitely textured, good stay-on face powder knows no limitations. It should be as right for one skin as for another... and serve the same beautifying purpose for which it is intended. Very often it is not the fault of the face powder when the complexion doesn't look insinuating... but the complexion itself. Maybe it is rough and scaly... or flaky and minus a wholesome vitality.

Everyone... men, especially... will agree that nothing makes a woman seem so charming as the glow of a lady-like blush. Nothing seems to add such instant beauty to her complexion as its warm coloring... not the superficial coverage of makeup, but the skin tone which gleams through a soft dusting of powder.

American women seem to have a way of getting just what they want. Yes, even when it comes to a face powder and its shade. A wonderful example of this is a new face powder shade... as attention-getting as a pretty blush... and the result of several transatlantic telephone calls.

For this face powder... created in the Paris laboratories of a noted beauty house... and now made from an entirely new formula for face powder... in addition to its splendid soft texture... has stay-on prettiness. And it is scented with a most beloved fragrance... one which in name is synonymous with the old-world tradition of its creator-house.

Like a real blush... the muted pink tones of this natural-blush face powder... is becoming to blonde, brunette, brownette and red-head alike. Large order for any face powder, you might say. But it is, it has the propensity for "marrying" the individual skin-tone... enlivening it and transforming it into lady-like naturalness. It is a lively shade that imparts a charming radiance.

There are three other new face powder shades making their debut... each carefully blended to heighten the ultra-feminine look so evident in fall fashions... but we favor the natural blush shade... and we think you will, too.

For the name of this new Paris-created natural blush face powder, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOU AND YOUR girl friend can swap face powder and emerge equally pretty. There is beauty news alike for blonde and brunette in a new natural blush face powder... a delightfully and notably fragrant powder that brings provocative charm of a real blush to both complexions. Made from a Paris-born formula... it gives an extra fine texture and an added stay-on quality to any skintone.

Serving Corned Beef Hash

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

CORNERED BEEF HASH is that derivative of corned beef with the versatile character. Perhaps you prefer the savory kind that you make at home or maybe you like the convenience of the canned variety. Whichever is your favorite, here are some new ideas for serving it.

MENU

Corned Beef Hash with Poached Eggs
Green Beans
Waldorf Salad
Whole Wheat Bread
Butter or Margarine
Cookies

Milk

Coffee

Baked corned beef hash with golden eggs is a dish to be served at a company brunch, for lunch or for dinner. Bake it in a decorative loaf pan, table casserole or layer pan, then carry right to the table. Both the hash and eggs are baked at the same low temperature (350 deg. F.) so they will be tender and flavorful.

For individual servings, mold the hash into individual nests on a baking sheet and top with an egg. Another style is hash nests baked with an indentation on the top, then filled with a perfectly poached egg when done. A light dusting of paprika adds to the eye appeal of the dish.

INDIVIDUAL STYLE

For an individually styled supper dish, bake corned beef hash in a ring mold. Unmold on a chop plate and fill the center with creamed green beans. Serve with fresh fruit salad.

HUMBLE HASH

A dish humble in origin but high in flavor is made by pan-browning rounds of the hash in a small amount of fat or drippings in a heavy frying pan. Remove the rounds to a heated platter and add 2 tablespoons prepared mustard and 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce to drippings in pan. Heat and serve over hash rounds. Toasted sandwich rolls go well with this. Some folks like their hash "scrambled." Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally as for scrambling eggs. For a flavor variation, add barbecue sauce while the meat is cooking.

WALDORF SALAD

1½ cups diced apples
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup sliced pecans or walnuts
1 cup diced celery
Mix apples with mayonnaise. Fold in celery and nut meats. Serve in lettuce cups. Pass extra mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

CHOCOLATE PECAN COOKIES

¾ cup sifted enriched flour
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup sugar
¼ cup shortening
2 eggs, well beaten
3 squares chocolate, melted
1 tsp. vanilla extract
¾ cup chopped pecans
Mix and sift flour with salt. Cream shortening, add sugar slowly, and cream until fluffy. Stir in well beaten eggs. Add chocolate and vanilla extract and mix well. Stir in sifted dry ingredients and pecans. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet and let stand a few minutes. Flatten dough by stamping with a tumbler covered with a damp cloth. Bake in slow oven (325 deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 2½ dozen cookies.

'Unfinished Dance' Stirs

The heartaching drama of a child's jealousy and adoration intertwined with ballet at its most enchanting make "The Unfinished Dance" must seeing.

Margaret O'Brien, one of Hollywood's most talented youngsters, with Cyd Charisse, formerly of the Ballet Russe, and the lovely newcomer, Karin Booth, head the cast of the new Metro release now on Loew's twin screens.

As Meg, talented student of the Metropolitan Opera Company's ballet school, little Miss O'Brien reveals a new growth and understanding in her acting.

A child dancer who desires to become a great ballerina, she idolizes Cyd Charisse, the premiere ballerina, and plots to make a visiting Continental dancer appear ridiculous in her first performance.

There is an unforeseen accident, in which the guest star, Karin Booth, suffers a permanent spinal injury. She can never dance again.

The remorse of the sensitive, emotional youngster is enacted with exquisite tenderness and simplicity by Margaret O'Brien.

Miss Charisse, as the gifted ballerina who lacks the soul of a great dancer, registers emotion at its most beautiful. She and Miss Booth should make boxoffice in this ballet-spotlighted release. Such ballet offerings as "Swan Lake," "The Butterfly," "Capella" and a dance finale synchronized to "Holidy for Strings" are eye-medicine for the uninited and the balletomanes alike.

MARGARET O'BRIEN

Radio's Danny Thomas, as Meg's unorthodox, devoted guardian, and Esther Dale, Thurston Hall and Ruth Brady register in lesser roles.

"The Unfinished Dance" is expertly staged and filmed in Technicolor and highlighted by Joseph J. Lilley's exceptionally fine music score.

'Welcome Stranger' Clicks Here With Bing and Barry

By PEGGY DOYLE

That enormously beguiling two-man team of Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald is here again in as entertaining if not as original a cinematic partnership as was their "Going My Way."

In the Met's "Welcome Stranger," they exchange their characters for medicine's less austere garb but not their relationship. Dr. Fitzgerald being the same lovable curmudgeon and Dr. Crosby his unfailingly soothing, melodious as it.

With Drs. Fitzgerald and Crosby and Director Elliott Nugent there can be no quarrel, although the scripter who shall be nameless rates a slap on the wrist for leaning so heavily on the pair's previous screen hit.

The action takes off from Boston, with Fitzgerald's peppery, old country doctor and Crosby's glib, young medico getting into each other's hair aboard a Maine-bound train.

On sight, the older man tags the plaid sports-jacketed newcomer a quick, an opinion he reverses when his young assistant performs a satisfactory emergency appendectomy on him and, later, stanchly stands up to the small-town hospital board in his defense.

As easy as an old house-slipper, "Welcome Stranger" is at its best in such sequences as when the belligerent Fitzgerald, reluctantly submitting to Crosby wielding the scalpel, supervises his operation.

with mirrors. Or, again, when young "Doc" Crosby takes over Dr. Fitzgerald's fishing-rod and brings in the fish with a song.

It's good listening, too, when Crosby effortlessly gives with "My Heart Is a Hobo" and "Make Mine Country Style," a couple of nice tunes which win the audience as well as lovely Joan Caulfield.

Percy Kilbride, in one of his formula rural cab-driver roles, is downright comic as a down-Mainer. But, from us to you, it's Drs. Crosby and Fitzgerald, those endearingly friendly enemies, who put the welcome into their latest Paramount co-starrer.

Leahy Picks HC, Harvard, Yale To Win Openers

By FRANK LEAHY
Head Coach, Notre Dame

College football starts grinding fact from fiction tomorrow. A few topflight teams limbered up last week but heavy action really begins tomorrow. Three make-or-break games take place in the deep South with another highly important contest slated for California.

Down at Chapel Hill, North Carolina faces Georgia. The colorful struggle holds all the drama of a Hollywood script. Georgia's 20-10 victory over the Tar Heels in last season's Sugar Bowl game was followed by shirt protest from fans in tobacco-land. They claimed poor officiating, no Charley Trippi, cost them victory. They also claim Chang (Choo Choo) Justice and his Carolina mates will prove this accusation. Quite a Donnybrook any way you look at it... and a dangerous but vital spot to start a career as a prognosticator.

However, I like Georgia to repeat its Sugar Bowl triumph. Trippi has departed but in my friend, Wally Butts, Georgia has in college circles after a brilliant one of the soundest and most brilliant coaches in the game. Butts enters the T-formatio, so much so that our meeting with another reason I like his chances Navy in Cleveland on Nov. 1

30,000 to See B. C. Lift Local College Grid Lid

Celebrating their Golden Jubilee on the gridiron, the Boston College Eagles will attempt to even their series with Clemson when they meet their Southern rivals under the lights at Braves Field tonight in their opening game of the 1947 season. An expected turnout of 30,000 will be on hand to greet the Heighmen who are facing their toughest schedule in history.

The game will mark the opening of the college football season in local circles and will begin a thrill-packed week-end for pigskin enthusiasts. Tomorrow the majority of the New England elevens will get their seasons underway. Coach Denny Myers has his stalwarts well primed for their initial test. Their two scrimmages with Harvard have given him a better line on the capabilities of his athletes and, as a result, he has had an opportunity to correct many faults.

Clemson, with a game under its belt, should be a formidable opponent. The Tigers rolled over little Presbyterian last week in their opener and have a triple-threat weapon in tailback Bobby Gage.

Gage, a 19-year-old veteran of two years, will carry the main offensive burden of the invaders and the Eagles have been instructed to watch him at all times. Standing 5 feet 11 and weighing 165 pounds, Gage ran wild against Presbyterian, piling up 280 yards, 182 by rushing and 98 by passing. He scored three touchdowns, one of which came on a jaunt of 80 yards and another on a 64-yard run.

His quick-kicking and passing ability mark him as the man to stop if the Eagles hope to gain the equalizer in their series with Clemson. The Tigers hold a two-one edge in their relationship with B. C. which started in the Cotton Bowl in 1940.

Clemson won the Bowl tilt, 6-3, and repeated that performance in 1941 by annexing the next game, 28 to 13. The third engagement went to the Eagles by a 14 to 7 count in 1942. Relations were suspended during the war years.

The B. C. squad tapered off their drills with a light session at Alumni Field yesterday. Their main objective seemed to be to tighten their pass defense against the aerial barrage which Gage is expected to unleash.

The Eagle starting lineup will have Art Spinnery of Saugus and John Ring, Dorchester, ends; Ernie Stautner, E. Greenbush, N. Y., and John Kissell, Nashua, N. H., tackles; Mario Gianelli of Everett and Dom Papaleo of Cambridge at the guard slots and big Ed Kennedy, Jagger man on the team, at center. Ed Clabby will do the signal-calling and will have as his running mates Bob Palladino at right half, Al Cannava at left half and Ed "Butch" Songin at fullback.

The Heighmen will wear maroon jerseys with gold numerals, maroon pants and their usual gold helmets. They will dress 46 men for the engagement.

The average weight of the Eagle forward wall is 224 pounds to Clemson's 192 pounds.

Only non-combatant for the game will be guard Vic Palladino of Watertown, outstanding B. C. lineman last fall who is still recovering from a knee injury.

Clemson, whose colors are blue and gray, will have their outstanding pass snagger, Henry Walker, to catch Gage's tosses. Walker, who played for the University of Virginia while in the service, was named to the second team on the Associated Press All-America eleven in 1944 and made the third team on the '45 AP All-Team.

Bleacher and a few grandstand seats remain for the game... The temporary stands will not be erected opposite the grandstand as the Braves have games scheduled Saturday and Sunday.

The Eagles will have a 45-piece band to cheer them. In the event of rain, arrangements have been made with Clemson and Braves to play tomorrow night.

Coach Leahy's Selections

Here are Frank Leahy's grid selections of the nation's leading games for the first Saturday:

- ARIZONA OVER WYOMING.
- ARKANSAS OVER TEXAS (NORTH) STATE.
- ARMY OVER VILLANOVA.
- NAVY OVER CALIFORNIA.
- COLUMBIA OVER RUTGERS.
- DUKE OVER NORTH CAROLINA STATE.
- FLORIDA OVER MISSISSIPPI.
- GEORGIA TECH OVER TENNESSEE.
- HARVARD OVER WESTERN MARYLAND.
- HOLY CROSS OVER DARTMOUTH.
- ILLINOIS OVER PITTSBURGH.
- COLORADO OVER IOWA STATE.
- KENTUCKY OVER CINCINNATI.
- RICE OVER L. S. U.
- MICHIGAN OVER MICHIGAN STATE.
- MINNESOTA OVER WASHINGTON.
- INDIANA OVER NEBRASKA.
- GEORGIA OVER NORTH CAROLINA.
- OHIO STATE OVER MISSOURI.
- TEXAS OVER OREGON.
- SOUTHERN METHODIST OVER SANTA CLARA.
- STANFORD OVER IDAHO.
- TEXAS CHRISTIAN OVER OKLAHOMA.
- A. & M.
- TULANE OVER ALABAMA.
- WISCONSIN OVER PURDUE.
- YALE OVER KINGS POINT.

Carl Snively, the Tar Heel coach, is a fine tactician, but I believe Butts and his men will outlast their worthy opponents. Butts not only has the T-formatio but he has Johnny Rauch to direct it—a smooth combination. Defeat, however, should make a stronger, more dangerous team of the Tar Heels.

In the other important Dixie-land offerings which may reach empyrean heights, my selection is Rice over Louisiana State and Georgia Tech to beat a tough Tennessee. It is always dangerous to pick against a Bernie Moore-coached eleven, but I believe Jess Neely has enough stuff at Rice to turn the trick. An extra point could easily decide this one.

The records also prove that picking against a team tutored by Bob Neyland is dangerous, indeed. Nevertheless, I think Bobby Dodd's flashy outfit will outstep Tennessee.

Before proceeding to the Navy-California battle, I'd like to return just a moment to this year's Georgia team.

Their last period 13-7 decision over little Furman must have been a sluggish performance from all reports. But it goes to show the psychological as well as the looms as a gigantic test. Army faces a stern test in Villanova, according to reports, but the Cadets handle those tough tests in stride. At any rate the game should answer a lot of questions. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.) (Leahy's Monday article will review Saturday's most significant results of the big games.)

Yale Opens Season Playing King Point

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Sept. 26 (AP)—The Yale football team opens its season tomorrow against Kings Point without the services of one of its regulars, and this is no "bear" story—it's a dog story.

Absent will be handsome Dan VI, the team's 18-months-old English bulldog mascot. He has a back infection.

Ray Ball Clinches H. C. Quarterback Post

WORCESTER, Sept. 26 (INS)—Co-Capt. Ray Ball appeared to have the starting quarterback berth sewed up today as the Holy Cross Crusaders tapered off pre-paratory to meeting Dartmouth at Fitton Field tomorrow.

Braves-Giants; B. C.-Clem son; Higgins-Red Sox

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Is this baseball or football? Is this Braves Field or BC's field? You'd wonder, you'd wonder if you were covering baseball. Jensen of the Giants whips the Braves, 3-1, wins his 21st to thwart Sain from the same objective, and what do you hear? Just footbeats from the Clemson football team that will tangle with BC tonight on the Braves ball field. They were on the fields as soon as the Braves left.

Today, Lefty Warren Spahn was seeking his 21st victory of the season against the Giants' Ray Poat. Did anybody care? It seemed not. Braves had lost their chance of gaining second place; everybody was looking for football tickets.

"We expect a crowd of 35,000," said BC's manager, John P. Curley, and that was a few more than gathered to see the Braves-Giants Ladies' Day game—1705 paid and 143 of the feminines.

Is this baseball or football? It's a toss up. You'd wonder, you'd wonder if you visited the Braves' dressing room. There was Bama Rowell saying to Billy Southworth: "Harry Walker has invited me to tour with his all-stars. We're going to play Bob Feller's all-stars. Do you think it's all right, Billy?"

"It's all right with me," said Southworth. "Just make sure you don't face any ineligible, just make sure you get General Mgr. John Quinn's permission, and just make sure you don't play before Oct. 8."

Johnny Hopp wants to play a couple of games. But he's got to wait until Oct. 8.

Barnstormers Made More Than Series Players

Johnny Mize has been offered a chance to play a few games with the Bushwicks & Co. "But I don't want to hang around until Oct. 8 to play," said the Giants' first baseman who tied Ralph Kiner at 51 home runs in the Ladies' Day game at the Tepee.

"I'm old and I'm heavy," said Mize. "If I loaf around until the World Series is ended, I'll be off in my timing, and I'll give the National League a bad name by playing below standard. I've got to play every day to be at my best."

"I hate to see," continued the Giants' home run king, "a kid like Ralph Kiner hang around an extra 10 days to start barnstorming. Most of those boys live on the Pacific Coast, and they not only would have their transportation paid home but pick up a few extra bucks on the way."

Arguments, arguments, arguments. Should Comr. Chandler let Feller and the boys barnstorm before Oct. 8? He barred them from Cuba. Williams was offered $10,000 by Feller to barnstorm last year, but was touted off by Yawkey who gave him the 10 grand. Just as well because Williams' World Series check didn't come within one-fifth of it.

Larry MacPhail mayhap had the right answer for it all. "If the World Series participants can't get as much as the non-World Series' participants who barnstorm, let us hike the prices."

So the World Series top this year is $8, and the winning club will get so much the players won't want to barnstorm.

The Ladies' Day game? Seems long, long ago. Cooper and Mize hit home runs, and that was enough to whip the Braves. But Sain with the help of hesitating "One-Bad" Hopp in center field, gave them the first run. But as the Braves donned uniforms today, everybody was looking for football tickets.

Higgins in '48 or '49

PINKY HIGGINS will be the next manager of the Red Sox, whether it be in '48 or '49. That is on the indirect wire from Tom Yawkey. The manager won't be Steve O'Neil, too old; it won't be Lou Boudreau, too attached to Cleveland. It will be the A's-Sox-Detroit-Sox-third baseman.

It was reported last winter that Higgins was in the doghouse with the Sox because he refused to manage the Sox Toronto farm. Higgins refused the job because he didn't wish to go to Canada and be involved in the monetary convolutions that engulfed Irving Mack Burn, Bob Shawkey and Dan Howley.

"I'll stay in America," said the Texas-born Irishman, and so he chose the Roanoke club of the Piedmont League. Higgins proceeded to win the pennant by some 17 games, so is on his way up.

It has been hinted that he's too easy-going to manage a major league club, but it should be remembered that Higgins not only was a crack halfback at U. of Texas but was the Sox intermediary in the player-union discussions last year. . . . Players look up to him. Did the Sox send Higgins out a year too soon? It would seem so. "He could have played 75 or 80 games this year," said the Sox intermediary, "and the Sox would have been a lot better off, particularly in a year when Doerr, DiMaggio and Williams didn't hit until it was too late."

It's an old story on Higgins, hardly worth repeating, but he's the only one of the old A's sold to the Sox (Walberg, Grove, McNair, Fox & Co.) who sat well with Cronin. "Sell me," prompted Higgins, "for a couple of pitchers," the year Tabor came up, "and you'll win the pennant." Cronin did but didn't. But Cronin always has liked Higgins for the gesture, and last year pulled him from Detroit to play third base in the World Series. Then he gave him his choice of managerial job.

56 Maryland Here for Harvard Opener

The Western Maryland Green Terrors arrived in town at 8:30 this morning, 45 strong, in preparation for tomorrow's opener at the Stadium with Harvard. The squad is billeted at the Hotel Beaconsfield in Brookline, and Head Coach Charlie Havens, a former pupil of Harlow, announced his boys are "rarin' to go."

Western Maryland will field a lineup which includes four former Medford High School stars. All of the boys are in the starting lineup and will see plenty of action against their old home towners.

Foremost among this quartet is Hank Carrado, a hard-running full-back. Hank made a great name for himself last season in his first year of college ball. An excellent punter, a terrific groundgainer, and a fair passer, he is a triple threat who bears plenty of watching.

Named as an All-Maryland back in 1946 any Green and Gold hopes of upsetting the favored Crimson begin with this boy. Carrado originally had anticipated enrolling at Harvard, but was steered to Western Maryland, ironically enough, by Harlow himself.

Joe Corletto, a 205 pound tackle, is a bulwark in the Maryland line. Also playing his second year of varsity ball Corletto's chief claim to honor is his outstanding defensive ability. He, like Carrado, was picked for the All-Maryland team. Last year he won honors in the heavyweight class on the boxing team.

Tilo Margarita's play tomorrow will be of special distinction because he will be working against his own brother's backs. Harvard's popular backfield Coach Margarita will be pulling all the way for his Crimson ballcarriers but at the same time, no doubt, looking for a good performance from his kid brother. Although only 5 feet 8 inches, his 186 pounds made him a tower of strength in the Maryland line last fall.

The fastest back on the visiting squad is Joe Gianelli. Weighing only 155 he is elusive in the open field and frequently broke away for long runs last year. This former Medford boy is calling the signals for the Green Terrors.

A crowd of 12,000 fans is expected for this opening tilt and even though they are favored, the Crimson will be turning on a good portion of its power. Without a doubt Buff Donelli will have some of his Boston University scouts in the stands in hopes of getting some tipoffs on the varied Harvard offenses. It is no secret that both he and Harlow are looking past their openers towards next week's game at the Stadium when the Terriers will be striving to erase that 68-0 drubbing they took in 1945.

Terriers Odds-On-Favorites To Beat Mohawk at Fenway

Boston University's rejuvenated Terriers have been installed as heavy favorites over Foxy Flumere's untested Mohawk eleven when the two teams meet at Fenway Park on Saturday night.

There will be three new faces in the Terrier lineup when the whistle blows for the opening kick-off, George Boston, 188-pound end from Swampscott, Gene Mancino, New Jersey fullback, and Bob Malone, a rangy end from Gloucester.

The other eight positions will be filled by Terrier lettermen who have returned from last season's grid wars, and Coach Donelli is depending on these boys to carry the heavy load.

According to reports, the Flumere-coached aggregation is weak in line replacements, but the former Northeastern mentor seems to be pretty well set in his backfield with Nick Belis, former All-Scholastic at Malden, the main spring of the Mohawk attack.

Bob Malone will be a surprise starter for BU, having moved up from the third team because of his fine showing in the practice sessions.

The tackle slots are well set, with George Ramacorti and Irv Heller, while Bill Crisafi will replace the injured Al Stewart at left guard. He will team up with Ed Haracz of Fall River.

Ed Sandall will probably get the starting nod for the pivot berth, but he will be alternated with Lou Beardsell.

The backfield has been set for some time now with John Toner at quarterback, Don Giles at left half, Bob Hatch at right half and Gene Mancino in the fullback position.

20th Century Club Fined $2,500

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—
The Twentieth Century Sporting
Club, operators of Madison Square
Garden boxing shows, was fined
$2500 today by the New York State Athletic Commission because it had "dealings and negotiations with unlicensed individuals with criminal records."

Edward P. F. Egan, chairman of the commission, announced the fine after Sol Strauss, acting president and secretary of the club, was called before the commission.

The decision came after a New York County grand jury which began investigating boxing affairs here last winter transmitted its minutes to the commission. The club waived rights to a public hearing.

Egan said that although the minutes did not disclose any violation of the state penal laws which would warrant an indictment, they did disclose "acts which are detrimental to the best interests of boxing."

Egan declared that since Strauss took over direction of the club from Mike Jacobs last Jan.
6 "nothing in the minutes or under the supervision of this commission discloses any violation of its rules and regulations." Jacobs name was not mentioned by the commission.

The action was taken, Egan said, as a warning to all clubs that the commission intends "to keep boxing as a sport free from sinister and criminal elements."

He said the commission had notified "certain licensees" that they would not receive renewals of their licenses Oct. 1 pending completion of the commission's investigation into the conduct. No names were made public.

Kill 6 More Horses at Rock

By DAVE WILSON

SALEM, N. H.—Six more thoroughbreds, victims of swamp fever, went to their death at Rockingham Park today, as the execution of a score of thoroughbreds went on its gloomy schedule.

These, to gether with the five destroyed on Thursday, raised to 39 the number of victims of the ailment. Ten others are scheduled to die before the week-end is over, while 13 thoroughbreds whose owners refused to accept the T.R.A. bounty of $2000 will be quartered at a nearby ranch until either death catches up with them or their insurance lapses. Among these are seven horses owned and trained by H. Guy Bedford, including the handicapper star, Prognosis, who is insured for $40,000.

Horsemen here feel that the Thoroughbred Racing Association, under Spencer Drayton, have accomplished little of a constructive nature in merely destroying horses. They want out, as the saying goes.

They want the well horses screened and tested. They want to know where they can go from here, and whether or not their stables will be acceptable at the winter tracks.

Drayton, who refused to name the horses destroyed today, had no comment on the core of the problem before returning to New York, and the horsemen stand exactly where they stood before the T. R. A., to the accompaniment of considerable fanfare, entered the picture. They still face indefinite quarantine.

Hot Action for Schoolboy Fans

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Although unfortunately plagued by postponements, the schoolboy football program—slightly revised—will pick up tempo this week-end with a merry roundelay of grid action starting tonight in a bustling, bruising game at Manning Bowl, Lynn; continuing with a rugged feature at the Quincy Stadium tomorrow and closing with a longshoreman's brawl at Memorial Stadium, Chelsea, Sunday.

The trio of games loom as the hottest on the grid griddles but there'll be plenty of competition throughout the triple session as the schoolboys swing into their earnest campaigning.

At the popular Lynn Bowl, Gloucester will be the guest of Lynn Classical but it will be anything but a square dance before an overflow crowd that will probably top the 20,000 mark. The Fishermen, elated over the return of triple-threat Joe Pallazola, will be attempting to throw the last half of a one-two punch into the teeth of the deflated Classical outfit.

Gloucester, employing 16-liners, all of first string rating, held the defending Class A titlist Melrose to a deadlock in its opener. A victory by the Gil O'Neil propelled Fishermen would establish the club as one of the first flight teams on the North Shore.

To the dismay of the Gloucester roofers, however, their boys will be catching the Lynns on the rebound.

Classical has too much to fail to bounce back from a stunning setback at the hands of Peabody last Sunday. With such opportunities in the backfield as George Bulard and the all-scholastic Harry Agganis, it will be impossible to keep this team down. There is a definite weakness in the center of the Classical line but undoubtedly Coach Bill Joyce will have worked over these points since that setback.

At the Granite City grounds, Brookline High School—the Class B titlist for the past two years—may be in for a shock that will send its undefeated record of 17-straight games into a handspring. The Wealthy Towners—poor in replacements beyond a few first call reserves—narrowly escaped defeat against Saugus in its opener but, in Quincy, they'll be meeting a bigger and cockier crew.

Coach Harry Downes has only two veterans on his squad, full-back Tony Misho and Capt. Jerry Keane at a guard. He has a clever backfield with Misho working with Charlie Haskell, Walter Palmer and Don Doherty, but his line—although bigger than last fall's titlists—remains a mystery. They'll be thoroughly tested against this Quincy club that romped over Brockton in its debut.

On the Chelsea green, neighboring Revere and Chelsea will have it out in full force Sunday afternoon in a tilt that should be another sell-out.
